U.S. Recovers Bodies of Five Viet Nam Dead

Government Forces Lose Men, Materiel In Latest Battles

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The bodies of all five Americans whose helicopter was shot down in flames near Saigon Wednesday have been recovered, raising the official American battle death toll in the Viet Nam war to 200.

U.S. military headquarters said the last of the bodies was accounted for early today.

During the battle near Duc Hoa, 12 miles west of Saigon, government forces lost 33 dead, 43 wounded and 20 missing.

Weapons Lost

The government forces also lost eight heavy weapons, 38 rifles, and six radios — a rich haul for the Viet Cong.

The Vietnamese government reported 16 Viet Cong bodies were left on the battlefield and claimed that 70 dead and wounded were seen being carried off by the Communist force, which was estimated to be of battalion size.

In another action, the Viet Cong killed 11 militiamen and captured 17 rifles in Bien Hoa Province, 20 miles northeast of Saigon. Viet Cong losses, if any, were unknown.

Major Gen. Tran Van Minh was named chief of staff of the Vietnamese armed forces. A series of officers have held the post as

Assistant to Goldwater Resigns Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's legislative assistant has quit his job, and was quoted today as charging the Republican presidential nominee is being pushed "farther to the right" by a group of new advisors.

The Arizona senator was silent on the resignation of William R. Seward, his legislative assistant for six years.

Tex. Kazy, administrative assistant to Goldwater, said Seward quit Sept. 30, and Goldwater accepted the resignation in a letter dated Oct. 5.

Kazy said Goldwater had no comment on the matter.

The Washington Post quoted Seward as saying Goldwater is being pushed to the right by "a small well-knit group of new advisors."

Not Available

Seward, whose telephone number is unlisted, was not at his Washington apartment and could not be reached today.

Kazy said Seward had been handling local bills and general legislation, and replying to inquiries about legislation, at a salary of about $13,000.

At Republican national headquarters, a spokesman said Seward "held a very minor functional position in the senator's office."

The Republican vice-presiden- tial candidate said the Demo- cratic President was trying to "buy support" from the voters through a series of costly pro- grams.

Federal Doles

But, Miller said, "each federal dole poses a drastic threat to every retiree, to every person on Social Security, to every person who depends upon a fixed income to buy his groceries and to pay his rent or mortgage."

Miller plunged into the Cuban issue Wednesday, asserting that there was "far more Soviet threat to the United States than the Cuban issue." He told an outdoor rally in Miami that American wheat grounds but found no trace of a sold to Russia apparently was bomb which a male caller had turning up in Cuba.

Cuban Reports

He also cited Cuban radio broadcasts and newspaper reports indicating that the Soviets were installing radio and dry dock facilities on the Caribbean island that could be used by submarines.

The crowd of about 4,000, including many Cuban exiles, cheered noisily when Miller pledged to help restore free government to Cuba if he and

Soviets Say Missile Sites Are Confirmed

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda said today that four Western military attaches accused of spying confirmed sites of Soviet intercontinental ballistic missiles.

The Soviet Communist party paper printed pictures of two men it claimed were taken from the three American mid- day for all federally regulated banks.

The banks will report their condition as of the close of business Oct. 1.

Comptroller of the Currency James J. Saxon announced the call for all national banks, the Federal Reserve Board issued a call for member banks of the Federal Reserve and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. is- sued a call for state banks which carry federal insurance.

Longhand Notes Both notes were written in longhand in English. Pravda printed an account of the attaches' 4,000-mile train trip last week across Siberia anti-Communist war in South under the headline "Spying Viet Nam because an election campaign is going on in this country."

During the trip from Moscow to Khabarovsk, in eastern Siberia, the paper said, the at- tachés cleaned the windows of their train compartment inside and out "so the Pentagon could not complain about the quality of their pictures."

Pravda said 900 photographs and 26 notebooks were taken from the attaches.

The four men are expected to participate.

Efforts for Mediation Continue

DETROIT (AP) — The threat of a new strike loomed over the nation's auto industry today as negotiators continued efforts to settle local plant demands and end a nationwide walkout against General Motors.

Fewer than 20 settlements were reported at some 130 bargaining units around the country.

National contract bargaining was broken off Wednesday between the United Auto Workers and American Motors Corp., when the talks bogged down in disagreement over retaining a unique profit sharing provision.

Settlement Possible

Douglas Fraser, who heads the UAW negotiation team, said that there is still time to reach a settlement before the AMC contract expires at midnight Oct. 15, but if no agreement is reached by that time "there will be a strike."

"I hope the company is not playing a game of brinkmanship," Fraser told newsmen.

Edward L. Cushman, AMC vice president leading the company negotiators, said the union had rejected a proposed to finance increased pension and insurance benefits through the profit sharing program.

Profit Sharing

Cushman was asked if he felt the UAW's turnaround meant that profit sharing was dead for the next three-year labor contract.

"I would say so," he replied.

But Fraser disagreed, contending the profit sharing provision was still on the bargaining table and any decision to discard it would not be made unilaterally by one side or the other.

The profit sharing plan — termed "progress sharing" by the negotiators — was adopted for the first time in 1961 and is the only such program in the auto industry.

It sets up a special fund tied to the company's profits and used to finance some fringe

Johnson Uses Needle on Goldwater

Barry Must Take Campaign Time to Defend Positions

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — After watching Sen. Barry Goldwater let himself be needled into using a lot of his presidential campaign time defending himself, President Johnson has begun to use the needle technique on the Democrats and Republicans before Goldwater became the party candidate, accused the senator of being impulsive and trigger-happy. Goldwater has worked hard at trying to erase such an image of him from the public mind.

Last Sept. 22, the New York Times and Washington Post both said as a fact that Goldwater believes his reputation for impulsiveness is his greatest barrier to the White House.

First Broadcast — And in his first television broadcast of the campaign he said, "You may have heard it said that I am impulsive — imprudent — that I am trigger-happy. A deliberate campaign has been and is being waged to create such an image."

Again and again in this campaign, in speech after speech, he has assured his listeners that he is neither impulsive nor reckless and that he has only one "Goa" in mind: Peace.

He protested that he is not a "warmonger" but a "peace-monger."

But members of Johnson's administration — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara — have called the senator "irresponsible." And Johnson in the creasingly has sought to keep Goldwater similarly irritated.

"Reckless Men" — In the past few weeks he has been hammering on the theme that the voters must not turn the nation over to "extreme and reckless men" and, without mentioning Goldwater, said the Republican party had a "new and frightening voice."

It's a good guess that Goldwater, since Johnson is sensitive to criticism, is getting under the President's skin. But, as judging from Johnson's reaction in public, the Texan seems determined not to let any irritation show.

When Goldwater began charging the Johnson administration with being "soft on communism" — Goldwater told reporters he got the idea for this from former Vice President Richard M. Nixon although Nixon disavows it — Johnson told reporters, "The new and frightening voice of the Republican party is merely trying out this charge to those who want to make it see if it works. My advice to him would be to drop it."

Worked Overtime — As he campaigned in earnest in the Midwest Wednesday, Johnson worked the needle technique overtime by referring to previous Goldwater positions that the senator has sought to get away from. For instance, on Social Security, Johnson ignored what Goldwater had said more recently and told his listeners suggestions are made for withdrawing from the U.N.

Earlier this year Goldwater talked of breaking off diplomatic relations with Russia if he is elected. But he hasn't said it recently. Wednesday, Johnson referred only to suggestions that have been made for breaking off relations with Russia.

Since this kind of thing can't go on indefinitely without boring audiences with repetition — and the campaign still has 26 days to go — Johnson almost certainly will have to find new techniques to irritate the senator.

Bankrupt System — The President said there are those in the land whose policies would bankrupt the Social Security system. He said there are merely trying out this charge to those "who want to make it see if it works. My advice to him would be to drop it."

Johnson Ignored — Again Johnson ignored what Goldwater had said more recently and told his listeners suggestions are made for withdrawing from the U.N.

In 1820, Henri Christophe, king of Haiti, killed himself with a silver bullet when attacked by rebels.
In 1903, the United States and China signed a commercial treaty.
In 1934, Bruno Richard Hauptmann was indicted for murdering the infant son of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.
In 1943, Allied patrols crossed the Volturno River in Italy.
In 1945, President Harry S. Truman announced that the United States would retain the secret of atomic bomb production and that only Canada would share the knowledge.
Ten years ago — At a Republican rally in Denver, President Dwight D. Eisenhower appealed to American voters to disregard their political affiliations and elect a GOP Congress.
Five years ago — Charles Van Doren telegraphed a House committee investigating charges of television quiz show-rigging that at no time had he been supplied with questions or answers.
One year ago West Germany ruled out joining French nuclear deterrent and the Bonn government gave its support to the United States on a mixed missile fleet.

Media to Discuss Warren Report
WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Society of Newspaper Editors has set Oct. 17 for a conference of news media representatives to discuss criticism in the Warren Commission report of news coverage of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The report was particularly critical of the confusion in the basement of the Dallas City Hall during which Lee Harvey Oswald was shot by Jack Ruby.

Before he lost the New Hampshire primary last March, Goldwater had talked of putting Social Security on a voluntary basis. It got a bad reaction and was a major goof.

Ever since Goldwater has been insisting he wants to make Social Security stronger.

Wednesday, Johnson chose to ignore what Goldwater is saying now and referred to what he had said before the primary without mentioning him by name.

Bankrupt System — The President said there are those in the land whose policies would bankrupt the Social Security system. He said there are merely trying out this charge to those "who want to make it see if it works. My advice to him would be to drop it."

The Badgers and Boilermakers have one and one preaseon records, and both lost to Notre Dame in preliminary games. The Irish opened their season by beating the Badgers 31-7 and defeated Purdue 35-14 last Saturday.

But the "scores don't mean a thing," said Bruhn. "throw comparative scores and preaseon records out the window."

Allen May be Out Parmanently As Yankee Voice

NEW YORK (AP) — Mel Allen, "Voice of the Yankees" for 25 years, is on his way out as sportscaster of the New York Yankee games, the New York Journal-American said Wednesday.

The Journal-American, in a story by sports writer Charley Feeney, said Allen has called his last pitch as a regular member of the Yankee radio and television broadcasting team. He will not be back next year, the paper said.

"It could be right," Allen said. "But if it's right, they (the Yankees) haven't told me about it."

The Yankees declined comment.

The Yankee broadcaster for the current World Series is Phil Rizzuto, former Yankee shortstop and a regular member of the Yankee broadcast team.

Packers Lead NFL Defensive Figures

Bears Fall to Last Place on Defense; Vikings Pace Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — The Chicago Bears and New York Giants, 1-2 last year in the National Football League, are last year the Bears allowed heading for a complete turnaround in 1964.

The Bears, defending NFL champions, are buried in the Western Division cellar and the Giants, Eastern Division titlists in 1963, are deep in the second division.

The official team statistics released Wednesday, provide the key to the two clubs' poor getaway.

A year ago Chicago's defense was the best in the NFL and New York had the most powerful offense. In four starts this year — each has dropped three — the Bears are last in team defense and the Giants are the tailenders in offense.

Chicago opponents have scored 134 points. The Bears yielded only 140 over the full 14-game schedule in 1963. Minnesota, Baltimore, Green Bay and sophomore (Looker) at ends. At the other positions will be Kempfert and Vander Kinter at tackles, Duckett and Goral at guards, and Brezinski over the half. Behind Schlies in the backfield will be Bob Kozlovsky and Berger a junior at the halfback spots and Hansen a sophomore at fullback.

The Vikings will be using the same type offense that beat Fox Valley last year, a split T-formation with flankers, which means Schlies will be throwing four feet of the pin on the 15th to the ends and the halfbacks, who will be placed in the slots.

If records mean anything, the odds are slightly against Denmark which has a 1-2-1 record tying Wrightstown, losing to Reedsville and Freedom, and beating Shiocton, while Lutheran High has a 2-2-1 record losing to Weyauwega and Sevastopol.

Keane Happy to Have His Pitching Rotation Back in Order Against New York

BY JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — "So the Yankees want to scramble. It's all right with us. We're the best scramblers in baseball."

Southpaw star Curt Simmons summed up the St. Louis Cardinals' attitude going into today's second game after handing the New York Yankees their fifth straight World Series defeat 9-5 in Wednesday's opener.

The victory put Johnny Keane, who still doesn't have a contract to manage the Cardinals next year, in the driver's seat, in more ways than one.

He now has his ace pitcher, right-hander Bob Gibson, to fire against the Yankees in the second game of the Series. If the Cards win, it would put the 33-year-old skipper in a most advantageous position when he sits down with owner Gusie Busch to discuss his status next week.

Redbird Barrage
Yogi Berra, who saw his ace, veteran Whitey Ford, go down under a Redbird barrage, featured by young Mike Shannon's towering home run, must rely on a rookie, Mel Stottlemyre, to pitch the first Yankee playoff season victory since October 1962.

Stottlemyre, a 22-year-old right-hander, was a key factor in the Yankee pennant victory this year. Brought up from Richmond in mid-August, he posted a 9-3 record with a 2.16 earned run average.

Gibson, with a 19-12 record during the regular season, was to have been Keane's opening game pitcher but the fireballing native of Omaha, Neb., had to be summoned from the bullpen for the pennant clincher Sunday.

"Winning the first game means a great deal, of course," said Keane, "but what pleases me most is that we've now got our pitching rotation straightened out."

"I think we're in good position now with Gibson going for us in the second game and one game in the bag. I like Gibson any time he goes out, no matter who we're playing."

Used in Opener
Six pitchers were used in the opener, the Yankees employing four. Neither starter, Ford of the Yankees nor Ray Sadecki of the Cards, had it Wednesday, as each team cracked a dozen hits.

Al Downing, Pete Mikkelsen and Hal Reniff followed Ford to the mound with the southpaw absorbing the loss.

Whitey, whose 10 triumphs are a Series record, now has lost eight, including his last four starts. Shannon's two-run homer, a towering 450-foot blast, which tied the score at 4-4 in the sixth inning, started Ford's downfall. Tim McCarver's follow-up double finished him.

Sadecki was credited with the victory but it took a three-inning relief job by Barney Schultz, the 38-year-old knuckleballer, to preserve the triumph.

Curt Flood, Lou Brock, McCarver and Shannon each had two hits in this scrambling game in which the Yankees committed two errors and catcher Elston Howard was guilty of two passed balls.

Tresh Homers
The Yankees, too, had their hitting clothes on, especially Tommy Tresh, who whacked a double and home run. They grabbed a 3-1 lead in the second inning in which they had Sadecki on the ropes but let him get away.

Five hits shook up the young left-hander pretty good, but Ford was cut down at the plate on a fine throw by Brock from left field. That proved to be the turning point of the game.

"If Ford had scored," said Keane, "I would have taken Sadecki out. Even then, another hit and Ray was gone."

Stottlemyre, an avid observer from the Yankee dugout, took note of the short confines of Busch Stadium and a 16 miles per hour wind that contributed to Ford's downfall.

"This is not a good park for pitchers," he observed. "Especially with the wind blowing out."

"But I'm a low ball pitcher and that is probably Yogi's (Manager Yogi Berra) reason for pitching me here. When I'm off and tagged, it's mostly for

Richards Says NL Would OK Braves' Shift

Houston General Manager Denies Possible Sale

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Paul Richards, general manager of the Houston Colts, said Wednesday night that "the National League will not block the move if the Milwaukee Braves ask to shift their franchise, and I am convinced that's what they want to do."

"It's their own business, strictly their own business," Richards told Milwaukee Sentinel baseball writer Red Thisted.

"If they don't think they can make out successfully in Milwaukee — and they know the conditions there better than any of the rest of us — I don't think we could honestly deny them the opportunity to make a go of it, somewhere else."

Reports have persisted for a year that the Braves will play some place other than Milwaukee during the 1965 season with Atlanta the most often mentioned future home for the National League team.

The clerical oversight was covered by the Rev. Ambrose Peeters, Premontre's athletic coordinator, Monday afternoon. Tuesday by Baseball Commissioner and the Rev. H. H. Toonen, principal of the Norbertine-run school, immediately phoned Pavela who requested the report interests before moving.

"These people (Braves owners) insist they don't want to be notified of the ruling Wednesday. Pavela issued the ruling

Denmark at FVL (non-conf.)

Saturday's Game:

Wrightstown at Reedsville

Reedsville's rampaging Panthers continue to surprise Little Nine Conference grid prognosticators.

The Dick Behnke-coached Panthers, fresh from a fourth straight triumph by a 7-0 count over Omro's co-defending champions, play host to Wrightstown Saturday in the Little Nine feature.

Friday's schedule sends runner-up Winneconne to Hortonville, Shiocton to Freedom and Omro to Hilbert.

Denmark plays out of the conference against Fox Valley Lutheran at Goodland Field Friday night.

The Panthers finished seventh in '63 with a 2-6 slate and were not rated among the favorites to annex the '64 crown. Reedsville is led by a potent backfield consisting of quarterback LaVonne Dietrich, Bob and Dick Steiner and Chuck Wallander.

Other key Panthers have been Wayne Fischer, Rog Brey, Joe and Al Kuntzer, Gary Pautz, Bill Foytuck and Gene Gerhardt. Coach John Van Egeren's Freedom Irish will attempt to annex victory No. 4 in succession against the wireless Chiefs from Shiocton. Freedom dropped its opener to Winneconne in a close battle, but has not tasted defeat since.

Coach Glenn Sapienza's Winneconne unit will be favored against wireless Hortonville.

Was Impressed
The young right-hander from Mabron, Wash., said he was impressed by the Cardinals.

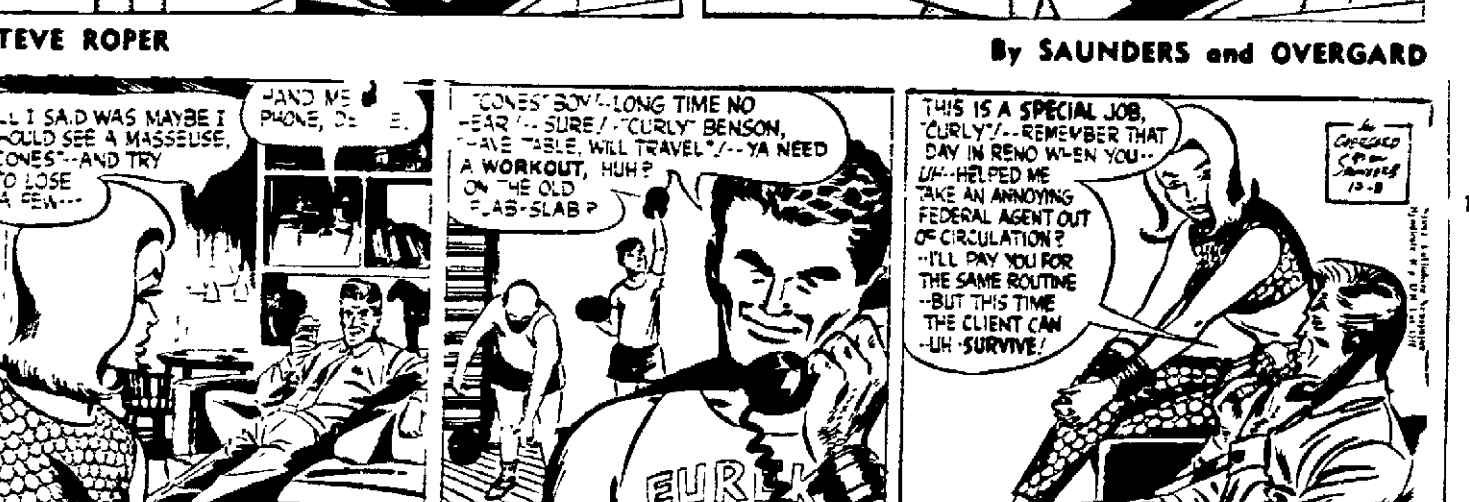

"They have a well-balanced team and speed," he said.

Then he added frankly: "But I think Whitey would be the first to admit he made a couple of bad pitches."

"They hit my curve ball," Whitey observed. "I can't understand it. I thought I had good stuff."

like looking for someone who doesn't read newspapers

Very hard to find. 99 million people in almost 9 out of every 10 homes read newspapers. It's the most sought after, often bought, eagerly consumed, intensely depended upon product in the world. The reason is obvious. We can't do without it. The need to know about the news and events that touch and shape our lives is deep, intense, unending. And the need to know is now. Today. So it's not very hard to figure out why more advertising dollars are spent in daily newspapers than in TV, magazines, radio, and outdoor combined.

SHOULD TEACHERS DEAL WITH CONTROVERSIAL ISSUES? YES ☐ NO ☐

Yes, says psychoanalyst Paul M. Goodman. The controversial issues are where young people are most in need of help. A doctor in a hospital is not expected to limit himself to mopping floors, making beds and to other "safe" activities. He is to deal with sickness and diseases, even though some of his patients may die. We ask only that he be competent before he acts.

Take your family's failures personally.

To Your Good Health

Seriousness of Cough Causes Vary Greatly

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Dear Dr. Molner: I have been bothered with colds and a hacking cough every winter. I have had TB X-rays and they are negative, and I do not smoke or drink. So what could cause these coughs? I am 68. — H. M.

A good many things besides colds and tuberculosis can cause coughs — although those are frequent causes. So is smoking, but you don't smoke.

Post-nasal drip, resulting from something wrong in the nose, often quite minor, can irritate coughing, and it is commonly more severe at night. Bronchiectasis, chronic bronchitis, various inflammations of the throat or bronchial tubes, chronic sinusitis, and asthma are other causes. How to tell the difference between them is not known. The cause may be serious, or it may be trivial. But it is worth consulting your doctor.

A cough, even from some trivial cause, can do its own share of damage if allowed to continue indefinitely. It can interrupt sleep. It can be tiring. A hard coughing spell can make a rupture worse, and can aggravate emphysema. So if you have a chronic cough, find the cause and get rid of it. Cough drops and cough mixtures may be fine for brief episodes of

Dear Dr. Molner: Some nights my wife, a diabetic, awakens with her heart pounding like a hammer. She has no pain, and if she gets up and moves about a little, it goes away. What could be the cause and what can she do? — W.H.

This sounds like paroxysmal tachycardia — a period of rapid heart beat — which can occur with many ailments, or indeed, when there is no apparent one at all. This sudden racing of the heart does not necessarily imply that anything is wrong with the organ. Usually not, in fact. With different people, it occurs at different times, and in different circumstances: At times of tension, after a big meal, and so on. Simple measures such as changing position (getting out of bed, holding the breath, or taking a drink of cold water, often serve to restore normal heart rhythm. As simple as that.

Union Leadership Showdown Today

Haberman Versus Heidenreich Election Is First Contest in Wisconsin AFL-CIO's History

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — The first contested presidential election in the history of the state AFL-CIO was scheduled for this afternoon, following nominations Wednesday.

Nearly 1,000 delegates meeting in the Brown County Arena listened as incumbent president George A. Haberman, 67, and John A. Heidenreich, 52, both of Milwaukee, were nominated.

Haberman has been president of the state group since its formation in 1943.

Incumbent officers John W. Schmitt and George W. Hall will be unopposed for vice president and secretary-treasurer. Eighteen men were nominated for two year terms on the 16 member executive board.

Compulsory Retirement
An expected floor fight on compulsory retirement for union officials at age 65, which would have prevented Haberman from seeking another term, was avoided.

An amendment to a laws committee resolution providing a monthly pension of $500 for any incumbent union officer retired at the 1964 convention was introduced by Heidenreich.

Heidenreich said the union presently does not provide an adequate retirement provision for its officers. He said the $500 monthly payment would last only until the union's executive board could provide a retirement program.

Several resolutions discussed earlier would have provided automatic retirement for all union officers at age 65 and would have prevented Haberman from seeking re-election. The resolution adopted does provide that candidates must be under age 65 at all conventions following this one. The resolution was worded to allow Haberman's bid for re-election.

Age Versus Experience
Today's election shaped up as a battle between age and experience, or "old time vs. modern unionism."

The nominating speeches for Haberman stressed experience and proven service. Heidenreich's backers asked for a "new image" of union leadership in the state.

Haberman seemed to have the loudest support on announcement of his nomination. He has been a state labor leader since the 1930's.

Some delegates said Heidenreich does not expect election this year, but is looking ahead to establishing himself as the logical choice to replace Haberman in 1966, when Haberman is expected to retire.

Heidenreich is a director of District 10, International Association of Machinists.

Contrast Between Men
The two men provide a contrast. Haberman is a square-cut, white-haired man with a rafter-shaking voice. He left school when he was nine years old and served as an apprentice in the Navy, farm worker, construction rigger and iron worker.

He runs labor affairs with a strictness that has bothered Heidenreich. The younger man says Wisconsin unions often appear too strong to outside industry. This, he contends, curtails the state's industrial expansion potential.

Haberman is expected to receive heavy support from state Steelworker's unions, while Heidenreich will use his machinists groups as his base of strength.

Order Probe of Border Guard's Death

BERLIN (AP) — The West Berlin government has ordered an investigation into the shooting of an East German border guard during the tunnel escape last weekend of 57 persons from East Berlin.

The government said the public prosecutor would try to determine who was responsible and what charges, if any, might be made. It confirmed the shooting near the East Berlin end of the tunnel after a preliminary investigation.

Suggest Senate Of Laymen at Vatican Council

Would Advise Bishops, Serve in Church Offices

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council today heard revolutionary proposals to put laymen alongside priests in Roman Catholic Church offices and to create senates of laymen to advise their bishops.

These proposals were made as the council fathers in St. Peter's debated an historic schema attempting to define a wider role for nonordained men and women in the life of the Church.

Almost all 18 speakers today blistered the schema as inadequate and unacceptable in the modern world.

Archbishop Eugene D'Souza of Bhopal, India, asked the assembly:

Other Offices
"Why should priests always represent the Church at international assemblies? Why can we not have laymen serving in offices of the Vatican, as papal nuncios, and in other offices on the diocesan, national and international level?"

Auxiliary Bishop Stephen Leven of San Antonio, Tex., proposed that each diocese might have a senate of laymen to advise the local bishop.

Led by North American bishops, a number of council members at the start of the debate Wednesday complained that the schema on the Apostolate of the Laity was wordy, vague, inadequate in its approach and patronizing in its tone.

"As far as I can tell, about all it does is say that laymen are nice people," said one Roman Catholic layman familiar with the schema.

Bishop Cousins
Two American members of the commission that drew up the document, Bishops William E. Cousins of Milwaukee, Wis., and Allen J. Babcock of Grand Rapids, Mich., said they had work from suggestions from the fathers to the made and when suggestions are proposed, we can then go back to work and make the schema more specific and more the way the council wants it."

Tshombe Says He Is Being Treated Like a Prisoner

Congo Premier Complains 30 Egyptian Agents Watching Him

BY GEORGE MCARTHUR

CAIRO (AP) — Premier Moise Tshombe of the Congo complained today he was being treated as a prisoner and watched constantly by 30 Egyptian intelligence agents. He fired off letters of protest to all members attending the summit conference of nonaligned nations.

Tshombe was barred from the conference and was placed under house arrest on his arrival three days ago. The Congo then blockaded the United Arab Republic and Algerian embassies in Leopoldville.

U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser sent word that Tshombe would be held until the blockades in Leopoldville are lifted. Tshombe was allowed a few visitors by Egyptian police and troops guarding the Arab Palace where Tshombe is being held on the outskirts of Cairo.

Diplomatic sources in Leopoldville said Tshombe telephoned his government to allow the Egyptian and Algerian diplomats to leave their embassies and a number of other ratings in Wednesday's Guernsey competition at the National Dairy Cattle Congress.

Other awards for Barlass included a fourth, a fifth, a pair of sixths, and a seventh, eighth and ninth.

Isolated in the palace and practically incommunicado, the Congolese premier was overshadowing the nonaligned conference. Even Egyptian newspapers, which are printing uncounted words of speeches at the conference, gave Tshombe banner treatment.

Belgian Visitor
A Belgian who visited Tshombe quoted him as saying: "I am really and truly a prisoner. I have been authorized for the past several hours to make contact with the Congolese delegation. But I cannot use the telephone myself and cannot leave here. More than 30 intelligence agents are inside this house and a company of troops are outside. They follow me when I walk in the garden and watch me when I eat."

Janesville Farmer Rates in National Dairy Cattle Congress

WATERLOO, Iowa (AP) — Alfred G. Barlass and Sons of Janesville, Wis., took a second and a number of other ratings in Wednesday's Guernsey competition at the National Dairy Cattle Congress.

Traynor Farms of Milton Junction, Wis., took a fourth, a pair of sixths in the Milking Shorthorn showing. Yanarah Farm of Edgerton, Wis., had an eighth and four ratings of tenth.

In the horse show, Silverstone Farms of Sheboygan Falls, Wis., had a first place in Shetland pony in single harness. Halbrook Farm Stable of Monroe, Wis., was fourth.

Cliff Lee of Menomonie, Wis., had the third-place entry in draft horse single cart hitch.

'Faculty Pressured'

Knowles Charges Reynolds Forcing UW Contributions

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Warren Knowles, the Republican said the word "university" was can candidate for governor, said Wednesday night that University of Wisconsin faculty members were being pressured to make financial contributions to the re-election campaign of Democratic Gov. John Q. Reynolds. There was no immediate comment from Reynolds.

In a statement issued at his Milwaukee headquarters, Knowles referred to "the barefaced political extortion technique" of Reynolds. He said Reynolds' campaign committee to pressure University of Wisconsin faculty members into making financial contributions to the Reynolds campaign. "The statement added:

Another Breakdown
"This is another example of the breakdown in public morality and ethical dry rot in state government under the Reynolds administration."

Knowles said the statement was based on complaints by university faculty members about a fund soliciting letter suggesting they should remit a $10 contribution to the Reynolds for Governor headquarters in Madison whether or not they wished to attend an Oct. 11 reception for Reynolds. The reception will be at the home of State Department of Administration.

Signed By Doyle
Knowles said "the letter was signed by James Doyle, former Democratic state chairman and husband of the special assistant to the secretary of the UW faculty." Knowles added that "the Bureau of Personnel, which supervises the hiring of all state civil service personnel is under the direct jurisdiction of Koop's department."

Doyle said he understood the contributions were being solicited by the Friends of John W. Reynolds, the main campaign for Reynolds.

Draft Call
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has issued a call for 7,800 men to be drafted in December, 800 less than contributions were being solicited by the Friends of John W. Reynolds. All the draftees would be assigned to the Army.

Charge Mother In Baby Killing

Texas Woman Reported Son Was Missing Wednesday

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) — Diminutive Martha Crowder, 25, was under police guard today in a Longview Hospital, charged with murder in the death of a 22-month-old son.

"Oh, my God, my God, my baby!" the 5-foot-2, 100-pound blonde screamed Wednesday seeing the body of Ricky Dale Crowder, whom she reported missing Sunday night.

Another son, Rex Crowder Jr., who will be 5 years old in less than two weeks, led the mother, Police Lt. Earl Claxton and his uncle, Curtis Felter, 39, to a ravine where his brother's body lay.

Dr. E. L. Jones, Gregg County medical officer, said the baby died 12 to 15 hours earlier, apparently of exposure. Mrs. Crowder was accused of throwing him from an embankment.

The father of the boys, Airman I. C. Rex Crowder, was expected here shortly. He obtained emergency leave from Clark Field in the Philippines.

Tears dimmed Mrs. Crowder's blue eyes Sunday night as she told police Ricky Dale disappeared from her parked car while she shopped for thread and stationery.

Claxton said Mrs. Crowder went into shock and became hysterical after the body was found. A doctor administered a sedative and moved her to a hospital.

Exotic Meat Relish Recipe From India

Of all the world's great cuisines, Americans as a whole know least about the food of India.

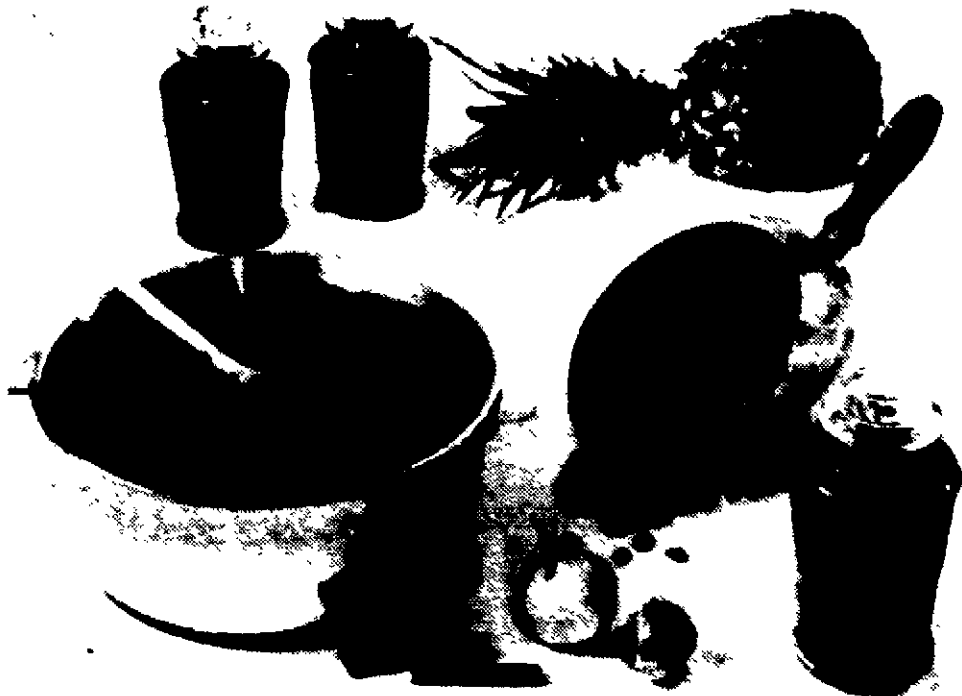

The widespread idea, for instance, that all Indian dishes are "hot" because they are prepared with spices simply is not so.

It's true that foods Indians dine upon are almost always intricately seasoned. India, after all, has been the spice grower to the world for at least 3,500 years. It should follow that dishes from this interesting part of the world should have subtle seasonings, flavor tastes of great variance.

Exotic Relishes
One of the keenest pleasures in Indian cooking (and eating) comes from the chutneys and condiments that traditionally accompany meat and vegetable dishes. To the casual observer, the number and variety can seem bewildering. But for the novice, the sampling of even one of these exotic relishes provides an insight into the beautiful world of authentic Indian cuisine.

Benares Relish is an American adaptation of an Indian chutney whose appeal has weathered the centuries. As a condiment it adds a delightful new taste to any meat or fowl. The secret of making the relish lies in long, slow cooking idea because it's the kind of relish that changes plain cooking into a culinary event.

Benares Relish Is Based on an ancient recipe for chutney that has been adapted to suit American tastes. Since the secret for success is long, slow cooking, use an aluminum sauce pot or Dutch oven to achieve thorough, even heating without boiling.

The choice between mink and cloth depends not only on which kind of coat you prefer but also on how much you have left after you have paid the grocer.

The same principle applies in the play of some bridge hands. Plan the play of the South hand without looking at the suit with a low trump you will

East-West cards. If you lead out the ace of spades you may drop the king and win all thirteen tricks. But if you have bad luck you may lose two trump tricks that way.

If you deliberately give up a spade trick to avoid the loss of two trumps, you may find out that you need all of the trump tricks and that the king of spades is unguarded. This would be the time to play boldly rather than cautiously.

The solution to this kind of problem does not depend solely on the spades. You must first see what you can afford.

Try Hearts First
Win the first diamond trick in dummy and try the heart finesse immediately. That is, lead a low heart from dummy and play the queen from your hand.

If the heart finesse loses, you must lead out the ace of spades, and hope that a singleton king drops. If you lose a heart trick you cannot afford to lose a trump trick.

If the heart finesse wins, you can afford to lose one trump trick. Just make sure that you

After winning the heart finesse, lead a low trump from your hand. If West follows hand with a low trump you will Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S None; H 5 2; D 10 9 8 6 5 2; C 9 7 6 3 2. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. You might be far better off at two or three of dummy's queen, and return a minor suit than at one spade, trump to finesse with the ten, but you may not be able to control the last trump with the trol your partner if you race, lead a low trump to dummy. The safest way to show a my's eight and then repeat the ghostly hand is to pass.

Lady Elizabeth Hester Douglas-Home, her husband, prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home, and their son, David, acknowledge greetings of supporters after an election victory on Nov. 8, 1963. They hope to do a repeat performance on Oct. 15 when Britain holds a national election. Lady Douglas-Home is her husband's constant companion and advisor on the weary campaign trail for re-election as Prime Minister of Britain. (AP Wirephoto)

Wives of Britain's Political Candidates Hide Feelings

BY TOM OCHILTREE

LONDON (AP) — Two shy, clerical daughters — Lady Douglas-Home and Mrs. Harold Wilson — strengthen the political hopes of their husbands with like for the wives of British political leaders.

Advice and the knack of making their men feel like winners are the two women have given order.

They both do all they can to help without once diverting the spotlight from their husbands.

Elizabeth Hester Douglas-Home, 54, and Mary Baldwin Wilson, 48, come from rival political camps, yet their personal experiences are remarkably similar.

They travel endless miles, smile until their faces ache and meet floods of people as Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home, sure, wants her husband to the Conservative party leader, and Harold Wilson, head of the Labor party, stump the country.

Each woman travels with her husband, sits on the platform with him, keeps his sense of humor functioning and offers encouragement if the day has been rough.

"I like my husband to know I am nearby when he speaks," said Lady Douglas-Home. "Mrs. Wilson felt the same way."

In a series of recent interviews the two women have given a clear picture of what life is like for the wives of British political leaders.

Campaigning usually starts in the morning and runs through a series of meetings in cities and crossroads until late at night.

The wives hear variations of the same speech over and over. They have learned to laugh or to appear grave-faced at the proper passages and above all never to get sleepy or seem bored no matter how stuffy the hall or hot the lights.

Lady Douglas-Home, tall, distinguished looking and self-assured, wants her husband to sense her boundless confidence in him. She explained, "I have always known he was asking for support in Britain's Oct. 15 national election."

Both mentally and physically, she can really lash out quite well.

"I'm not a speaker or any-thing like that but I enjoy meeting people. I love the political life."

"We are not the worrying kind I never worry. My husband is even more of an unworrier than I am. I mean, after he has done his best he just stops worrying."

Campaigning in Britain can get rugged with hecklers shouting, people tossing rotten eggs and officials struggling to keep order.

Masks Emotions

Lady Douglas-Home does not let rowdy incidents bother her. She resents what she regards as an emotional, unfair criticism of her husband but she is too well-bred to allow her feelings to show.

Mrs. Wilson also knows how to mask her emotions. She has fair hair, cornflower blue eyes and a peaches-and-cream complexion.

Widely read, a spare-time writer of poetry and an accomplished singer, Mrs. Wilson up to now has kept her family's inconspicuous, white-washed home in London's Hampstead Garden suburb separate from the bustling political world of her husband.

The two Wilson children are he was so stuffed with facts and she protested. "Often I can spot Robin, 20, a mathematics student at Oxford University, and Giles, 16. All the family like to sing and play musical instruments together.

People used to say that Wilson projected a personality of chilly, machine-like efficiency — that "I rarely give him advice," lives

Your Problems

Proper Child-Rearing Doesn't Require Slapping a Child

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A few days ago I did something horrible. I slapped a stranger's child right across the face.

While shopping in the super market my four-year-old son Tom broke away and began to chase around I threatened.

When my back was turned a youngster sailed into me with a shopping cart. Without looking, I wheeled around and slapped him across the face. To my horror it was not Tom, but another little boy the same size.

The child's mother rushed over and shouted, "Keep your hands off my son or I'll give you what you gave him." I was so ashamed I apologized for five minutes. Today I learned the woman's name. I'm tempted to telephone her and apologize again. My husband says, "Skip it." What do you think?

K. D. S.

Dear K. D. S.: I agree with you husband.

May I suggest, however, that you go to the public library and get some books on child-rearing. A slap across the face is no way to deal with an unruly child in a supermarket—or anywhere else. You need help, mother, and I earnestly hope you get it soon.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 26 years old, attractive and have been self-supporting for six years. My problem? I have the world's loudest luck.

At 16 I fell in love with a married man. Nick was twice my age, owned the cafe where I worked and he was good to me. Nick kept promising to work things out with his wife but after four years I decided it would never happen so I quit him.

After Nick I began to see a man who was separated from his wife. We lived together three years before I realized he was using his religion and his children to stall me.

My next sweetheart was a man who told me his wife was in a mental hospital. Every few months he'd say she was coming home "next month" and so ashamed I apologized for five minutes. Today I learned the woman's name. I'm tempted to telephone her and apologize again. My husband says, "Skip it." What do you think?

K. D. S.

Dear K. D. S.: I agree with you husband.

May I suggest, however, that you go to the public li-man for a change. Your "luck" might improve.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was happy to read your advice to the mother who snooped in her daughter's diary, bureau drawers and pocketbook.

My parents never pry or ask questions, but they know all about me because I tell them. Our relationship is based on friendship and respect. I value their opinions and seek their advice. If my folks had spied no me and listened in on my telephone conversations I would have cut them out instead of in.

Now that I am 18 I find myself making decisions on the basis of what I feel is right—not what I can get away with. The girl in our crowd who does the most lying and has the loosest morals is the one with the snooziest mother.

I feel lucky to have been brought up in a home where there is trust, confidence and love—Robin.

Dear Robin: Thank you for more evidence that if you give children something lofty to shoot at they'll aim high. I received hundreds of letters from teen-agers but yours said it best.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1964)

'Time for Experimentation', Speaker Tells AAUW Branch

William H. Berner, Ph.D., programs based only on national security or politically oriented notions, to the neglect of the social sciences and humanities. The answer is not in buying alphabet soup, whether it be ABC or XYZ studies. The change must be geared to the needs of the school, one that serves all youth and adults. This does not mean one that is open nine months a year, or just on a waste," he commented.

Dr. Berner spoke at the annual dinner meeting for members and guests Wednesday evening at the Elks Club.

The speaker noted a number of factors as responsible for the need for changing school curriculum. There are more scientists living now, he said, than in all previous times combined. The population explosion and social changes have created the need for a comprehensive school. More and more intellectual capacity is available to society, and it must be used to fullest advantage.

At the present time, he said, five AHS students are taking science and math courses at Lawrence University. If the program is successful, it will be carried further.

Great Middle Group
The speaker noted that much money is spent on training the retarded child, too often wasted because at the age of 16 the child is allowed to fall back. Much attention is also focused on the other end of the scale, where we worry about not challenging the outstanding student. The great middle group is often, he stated, looked on with the attitude that it's a sin to be average. A 'C' should be a respectable evaluation, he said.

A comprehensive school has something for everyone. It demands individual planning for each student, and is strongly guidance-centered. Each student's strength is studied and courses are built around those strengths. This is the sort of thing Appleton has been working toward in its ungraded primary and intermediate classes and program of individual growth.

Must Change Too
School environments will change just as home and world environments are changing. We must be careful of how it's done, however, Dr. Berner said. We must not follow package may be in the offing. Today is a time of experimentation. What is so today may not be tomorrow. But no changes will be made at the expense of the student.

More team teaching is geared to the needs of the student, so all This is why there is talk of principles and concepts. What he needs self-reliance and the must be taught is learning to adapt from day to day, and learning to live as democratically as possible.

Will Be Different
It is impossible to tell what the school of tomorrow will look like. Instead of an eight-hour day, the school hours may be divided into 20-minute segments, with students reporting New and prospective members were greeted by Mrs. Charles Crouse, branch president, and devoted to private study and re-introduced by Mrs. Daniel P. Folsom.

Old Age Home Policy May Be Changed

Institutions Then Would Keep Doors Locked During Night

An open-door policy in old age institutions may be changed by state department of public assistance officials who have held up a decision to force the Outagamie County Golden Age Home to unlock its doors at night.

Hospital and Golden Age Home Superintendent John Engel said today Outagamie County will maintain its policy of locking doors to the exterior of the building in spite of state ruling which forbid the practice. Affected will be the two wings in the hospital which comprise the Golden Age Home for old age residents.

State officials were at the hospital last week to examine the security measures taken at the hospital and old age home. They informed Engel and trustees they planned tours of other institutions to study security measures there, then planned to examine the department rulings to see if changes should be made.

Patient Walked Away

Engel told officials that the two doors in the old age wings are unlocked during the day. Light hours, but are secured at night. He said a patient walked away from the home last spring, became confused and was found dead in a nearby field the following morning. The locked doors are to prevent residents from wandering from the home.

Public assistance officials last spring told hospital trustees that the home was not complying with rulings by locking doors at night. Engel and other county officials maintained at the time that the institution would have to hire full-time watchmen in the old age wards if the doors were to remain open at night.

Engel said the old age wings of the hospital are officially considered as a "home" and not a hospital and therefore come under different security and safety regulations than a hospital.

Hospital wards at the institution maintain locked security and comply with existing regulations.

Political Wit and Tales In Literary Spotlight

Politics — its art, wit and tenders of invective. The elegant — takes the stage in two new books added by the Apple Public Library as the shadow of our FDR, whom associates claim was prone to endow with non-creative sarcasm.

The books are "The Fine Art of Political Wit" by Leon A. Harris and "Tales Out of Congress" by Ohio Sen. Stephen M. Young.

Hortonville Man Jailed For Traffic Violation

Richard H. Schuessler, 25, 223 W. Embarrass St., Hortonville, was sentenced to six months in the Outagamie County jail after pleading guilty Tuesday of driving after his driver's license had been revoked. Kaukauna Library Asks $46,600 for '65

Increase in Fund Request Caused by Higher Salaries, Book Costs; Tax Levy to be $46,000

KAUKAUNA — A library budget of $32,490 of which $37,800 was expected to be raised through the tax levy proposed by the library board. Salaries are increased from $24,900 to $29,500 in the proposed budget. Books increased from $9,000 to $9,200, insurance was not in the 1964 budget. Cost of the library board indicated through tax levy with a $609 1965, but no figure was given anticipated income figure. for last year. Total budget last year was $200, repair and maintenance for the budget increase as well as the lack of county aid which had annually amounted to about $1,300, travel allowance was increased from $300 to $400 and utility cost estimates went from $1,600 to $1,800. The 1965 budget includes a $2,500 capital improvement request which should the county reconsider and grant aid to libraries, this amount would be deducted from the proposed budget and returned to the city, the board indicated at book costs as major reasons cited.

Church Leaders Meet on Boat

ABOARD THE MOTORSHIP BORNHOLM, in the Kattegat Sea (AP)—About 200 church leaders from nearly every country in Europe founded today an all-European organization of churches.

The new organization, called the Conference of European Churches, includes some 50 churches in 23 nations, including both East and West Germany.

The countries not represented were Bulgaria and Ireland. It includes Protestants, Anglicans, and Orthodox and old Catholic churches in Europe with millions of members.

The conference called itself "An Ecumenical Fellowship of Churches in Europe" and said its aims are to discuss questions concerning the churches in Europe and to assist each other.

The organization was founded by the fourth European Conference of Churches being held in international waters off Denmark because the East German delegation refused to obtain Allied occupation permits necessary to enter that North Atlantic Treaty Organization country.

John Melcher, director of the Bureau for Handicapped Children, on "Public Schools' Responsibility for the Education of Disturbed Children."

Demonstration programs are planned depicting what can be done locally to help educate the public about mental illness and what can be done to provide services for the mentally ill. Leaders from the 26 chapters of the Wisconsin Association for Mental Health and from clubs and organizations interested in mental health are expected to attend the one-day conference.

Appleton Council Rejects Committee On Licensing Issue

Aldermen Vote 14-5 Approval
To Open Northside Tavern

Overriding the recommendation of one of its committees, the Appleton Common Council Wednesday night granted a class B beer and liquor license to Howard Kamkes to operate a tavern at 1101 W. Wisconsin Ave. It was the only rhubarb that developed during the two-hour council meeting.

The welfare ordinance committee, headed by Ald. R. P. Groh (8th), had denied the ap-

Elden Broehm Censure Made Part of Record

Appleton Council
Clears Up Error
In Official Minutes

The Appleton City Council set the official record straight Wednesday night on its handling of the Elden Broehm incident last month.

In September the council held an executive session in which it censured Broehm and asked him to take a leave of absence after the city clerk had been arrested in Milwaukee.

However, the council's formal action was not included in the official proceedings or published minutes of the following council meeting.

When the minutes came up for approval Wednesday night, the council adopted an amendment which included the censure resolution. It ordered the resolution be published.

Part of Official Record

The council's action in admonishing Broehm is now a part of the city's official record.

There was no discussion on the resolution introduced by Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Stillings (7th).

The council acted on other matters, including:

- Payment of a $257 bill from the Northeastern Court Reporting for services rendered in taking the transcript at the recent Wisconsin Employment Relations Board adjudicating hearing. The union paid a comparable amount as its share of the expense.
- Amending the city's vacation policy to give municipal employees three weeks vacation after 12 years of service.
- Authorization for the department of public works to create the position of administrative assistant in the street division, and two new positions in the maintenance division.
- Allocation of $13,076 as the city's share of the Fox Valley Regional Plan Commission budget for 1965.

$50,000 Cost For Huber Law Prisoner Dorm

Approximately $50,000 will be the cost of remodeling certain offices in the basement of the Outagamie County courthouse to make way for a Huber law prisoner dormitory, an Appleton architect said today.

George Narovec, architect, has completed sketches for the 30-man dormitory and presented them today to the county's public property and insurance committee. The committee met to determine if the cost of the remodeling could be included in the 1965 budget.

Construction calls for a rebuilding of exterior walls in the northwest corner of the courthouse, tearing out old offices and installing plumbing, heating and partitions for the dormitory.

It will be necessary to dig out an area in the rear of the building so that the windows in the dormitory area will not be underground.

Two Motorists Pay Fines for Violations

NEENAH — A forfeiture of $19.50 and fines totaling $115 or a total of 35 days in jail were levied on motorists by Judge James V. Sitter, in Winnebago County Court Branch 3 Wednesday afternoon.

Rick Priebe, 19, 308 E. Pacific St., Appleton, was arrested Sept. 25, traveling 39 miles per hour in a 25 mph zone in the 400 block on E. Wisconsin Avenue and not having a valid driver's license. He was fined $100 and costs for driving without a license and $15 without costs for speeding.

Merlin R. Verstegen, 41, 562 W. Cecil, signed a stipulation of guilt and forfeited a total of $19.50 for speeding 35 mph in a 25 mph zone.

Honorary doctor's hoods lined Lawrence University's blue and white were presented to four distinguished men this morning during a convocation honoring the completion of the Casper E. Youngchild Hall of Science.

Honored were Dr. Douglas M. Knight, president of Duke University, who was given the doctor of humane letters; Howard Packard, president of S. C. Appleton to Request Bids On Bond Issue

$1.3 Million to be Used by Council
For Streets, Sewers

The first step toward floating a $1,360,000 bond issue for major municipal improvement projects was taken Wednesday night by the Appleton Common Council.

Sealed bids for the purchase of the 20-year, general obligation bonds will be opened by the board of public works Nov. 17, and the council is scheduled to award their sale to the low interest bidder Nov. 18.

Initial Resolution

In July, the council adopted an initial resolution laying the groundwork for the bond issue, which Finance Director Donald Hassler said, would be a matter of timing.

Some projects to be financed by the bond issue already have been started or are in the planning stage. The money will be earmarked for:

- Constructing and improving storm sewers, $650,000.
- Improving the sanitary sewer network, $150,000.
- Land acquisition for laying out and opening new street.
- Landscaping, outdoor lighting, and new sidewalk and road construction at the sewage disposal plant, $120,000.

In other action, the council: —Set Oct. 19 as the deadline for aldermen to submit written requests for 1965 street and sewer projects.

—Authorized the city clerk to advertise for bids for grading and graveling the extensions of Franklin and Washington Streets between N. Division and State Streets.

—Approved the hiring of James Hickinbotham as Appleton City Home administrator.

Other Business

Hamann also is to contact J. E. Esler, attorney for the board, and instruct him to draw up final legal papers for the prospectus to be submitted to Chapman and Cutler, legal counsel, for approval of the bond issue.

Board members hope the addition can be started in November, assuring opening of the school for the 1965-66 school year. The addition will include five regular classrooms, two kindergarten rooms and a central library. All are designed for use by elementary grades.

Currently three temporary classrooms are being used by the district and without completion of the addition by next year, the district would be unable to handle the ever increasing elementary school enrollment.

Appleton Aldermen Okay Action After PSC Denies Rehearing of Ruling on Six Railroad Crossings

Appleton is taking the Wisconsin Public Service Commission (PSC) to court over its recent order that six Chicago North Western railroad crossings in the city be closed.

The order, in effect, means dead-ends for the streets at the Pacific and Durkee Street crossings also be closed.

Meeting at the city hall Wednesday night, the city council gave City Atty. Frederick Froehlich approval to start action against the commission in Dane County Circuit Court at Madison.

Earlier in the week the PSC handed down a decision refusing the city's request for a rehearing on the order closing the crossings.

The crossings to be closed are Pierce, Bates, Hancock, Win-

Chief Wolff Wants 8 More Policemen

Cites Increases in Mileage Motor Vehicles, Complaints and Crimes

A request to add eight more policemen to the Appleton police department is being made to the city aldermen by Police Chief E. O. Wolff. Wolff has suggested that four of the men be hired during 1965 and four more hired the following year.

Wolff has cited the increase in street mileage, motor vehicle registration, complaints to the department and a 13.6 increase in serious crimes within the past four years for his request.

Wolff estimated the present Appleton police department and population of Appleton at 53,000. 69 policemen hired. The increase of 9.4 per cent over the 1960 census which showed 48,411 living within the city.

He listed increases in street mileage from 155.92 miles to 179.2, vehicle registration from 18,756 to 20,637, and the number of complaints handled by the department from 4,144 to 5,572 this year.

Industry Asking Schools to Help With Training

White and Blue
Collars Returning
To Classrooms

NEW YORK (AP)—Industry is calling upon educational institutions to help train workers to handle new and highly complicated machines. Many companies also are sending supervisors back to classes to bring them up to date so they can teach recruits to become semi-skilled or even highly skilled workers.

This tackles two problems at once: lack of job opportunities for the untrained that has kept unemployment high, and deficits of skilled workers that have curbed output in many new industrial fields.

Professional men also are being linked by closed-circuit television to get the latest word in their specialties, whether it be medicine, surgery, law, or insurance. And at the managerial level, many companies are linking their salesmen across the land to centrally conducted educational courses, using both television and the nation's telephone circuits.

Attended Seminar

Foremen of Jones & Laughlin Steel attended an in-plant seminar to learn both how to operate a new mill and how to teach subordinates. Now they are instructing nearly 200 employees who will work at the new $80-million electronic rolling mill in the company's Cleveland plant.

Eastern Stainless Steel's Baltimore plant gave 100 supervisors a course in handling employees as well as equipment. Now they are training workers to be more efficient—and morale is reported higher because of the psychological pointers the supervisors picked up.

Educational institutions are joining in the move on an increasing scale.

'More Exciting'

R. Lynn Kaimbach, general manager of the South Carolina Television Center, Columbia, S.C., sees courses designed to increase industrial potential as far more exciting than the use of educational TV in formal education.

"A nation moving so rapidly its citizens must be retained two three times in a lifetime must develop the tools with which to do it," he adds.

Patrick R. Fischetti, director of Employee Development Services—EDS—Scranton, Pa., says, "Firms can't afford to wait until after the installation of costly, highly automated equipment to start training operators and maintenance personnel."

EDS, a division of the International Correspondence Schools, has trained supervisors for Anaconda Copper, technical personnel at a Western Electric plant, and 20 men to become aides to engineers at an Ohio metal fabricating plant so the engineers themselves would have more time for other than detail work.

Special Needs

The Twin City Area Education Television Corp., St. Paul, Minn., has developed a series of programs for industrial training use. One was shown to 3,500 employees of firms in South Carolina. This state links circuits of Southern Bell and 46 independent phone companies to reach industry as well as 14 hospitals, 175 high schools, 13 colleges, and 36 elementary schools.

The space age is developing special needs along this line. The Genesys program in Florida will connect space engineers at Cape Kennedy, Melbourne, Daytona Beach and Orlando by closed-circuit television for university courses tied to changing trends in this field.

Some firms are tapping the younger market for job recruits. A machine tool maker, Norton Co. of Worcester, Mass., is hiring some students for part-time, on-the-job training while they're still attending high school.

WAUPACA—Mrs. Lucy Doerfler and Miss Esther Beardsley will be hostesses to the Past Noble Grands, Rebekah Lodge, at the home of Miss Beardsley, at 8 p.m. tonight.

AHS to Have Program on Girls Sports

Improvement of Athletic Activities Will be Discussed

Appleton High School Wednesday will host one of six regional conferences on sports for girls in Wisconsin secondary schools.

Wisconsin doctors of medicine, high school principals and women physical education teachers will explore methods of improving girls' sports programs.

They will consider the philosophy and values of girls' sports and ways of implementing such programs, and girls' sports programs as viewed by the school administrator, the physician, the girls' physical education teachers and the Wisconsin Inter-scholastic Athletic Association. Dr. Lloyd F. Williams, Appleton, will be one of six doctors taking part in the series of programs.

Others participating will be the conference's planning committee, Otto Miller, Madison, coordinator of health, physical education and safety for the state department of public instruction; Miss Margaret Lamaster, instructor in the University of Wisconsin's department of physical education for women, Madison, who served as chairman of the Wisconsin Division of Girls' and Women's Sports of the Wisconsin Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, and Warren Selbo, Soughton, and Robert Whinnall, Beaver Dam, both of the Wisconsin Association of Secondary School Principals.

Other conference participants will be John Roberts of the WIAA, and six women physical education teachers.

graduated from Lawrence in 1963, was presented for his award by Guy McCorsion, chairman of the board of Thimany Pulp and Paper Company, and a Lawrence trustee.

Citation
Packard was cited:

"Your career in the business world has demonstrated a mastery of problems in merchandising, manufacturing, law, and finance, both domestically and abroad. Upon this foundation of technical success you have demonstrated to your colleagues and fellowmen a confirmed belief in responsibility for the well-being of society and the enrichment of the lives of its members. In doing so, you have extended into conduct the cherished harvest of a liberal education."

Alumnus Maurice Arveson was introduced for his doctor of science degree by Dr. Harry F. Lewis, dean emeritus of The Institute of Paper Chemistry, who has done a great deal of consulting work for the American Chemical Society which Arveson heads.

Arveson Cited
Arveson's citation read:

"In honoring you on this occasion, we are mindful of the many and varied contributions made by you to chemical science, a field that has had marked influence on the growth and welfare of our society. As an outstanding Lawrence student, in expectation of more to come, creative scientist, technical advisor and coordinator, and as today."

one successful in promoting the efficient dissemination of scientific knowledge, yours has been an abundant and many-sided contribution. Your present position as President of the American Chemical Society, our largest group of scientists and engineers, attests to the confidence placed in you by your colleagues and to the value they place upon the services you have rendered. In this light we are particularly pleased to honor you as an eminently successful Lawrence graduate, and we hope that your example will inspire present and future Lawrence students."

Biophysicist Howard M. Dintzis was presented by Dr. W. Paul Gilbert, who holds the Philetus Sawyer chair in physics at Lawrence. The citation was:

"With the description of living systems in terms of the molecules they contain, new questions could be asked of nature, and answered. You have designed and carried out experiments to answer these crucial questions, going beyond your field of specialization to do so. The labeling of proteins with heavy metals made it possible to determine the precise positions of the thousands of atoms in these complex molecules. Using radioactive tracers, you were able to decide the mode of assembly of protein molecules in living cells.

Several aldermen indicated this would not have any bearing on whether or not a license should be granted Kamkes.

Kamkes sat in the audience but was not called upon to comment.

His request for a license has been in and out of the committee for several weeks.

Rate Increase

On another matter, the council concurred in the committee's recommendation to increase the rates for the Appleton City Home, the new schedule to go into effect Jan. 1, 1965.

The new fee schedule: minimum nursing care, $125; moderate nursing care, $145; maximum nursing care, $170; room and board, $75, plus $15 monthly service charge; private rooms $90, plus $15 service charge; charge for holding a room for a resident while hospitalized, $1.50 per day.

Welfare Director Merton Ehrliche said the service charge would be applied only when residents required more than the normal amount of care and services.

Egg Scramble In Stars, Stripes

News does travel. When Appleton Sealer of Weights and Measures Roger LaBerge recently laid an egg in connection with his crackdown on underweight eggs—it hit the newspapers.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell found out today it also traveled overseas. The European edition of Star and Stripes carried an account of LaBerge's egg dilemma.

A serviceman mailed a copy to Mitchell.

Appleton Gets Explanation Of Paving Job

Contractor Made 'Honest Mistake' Council Decides

A Menasha contracting firm was victim of "an honest misunderstanding" in failing to obtain a permit from the City of Appleton to pave the 260-space St. Bernadette Church parking lot, it was claimed Wednesday.

City officials were given the explanation in Mayor Clarence Mitchell's office at the city hall during the afternoon, and at night the common council approved the driveway openings for the lot.

Work Completed

The work was completed in September by Badger Highways Co. Inc.

Two representatives of the firm conferred with the mayor and Public Works Director Robert W. Bues during the afternoon and said they had been under the impression the church had obtained the parking lot construction permit.

Earlier in the week the street-sanitation committee raised a storm when it received the request, and then noted the work had been finished sometime ago. A new city ordinance makes it mandatory to obtain a permit before constructing or paving parking lots.

It was disclosed that a member of the city engineering staff Home, the new schedule to go is also on the church building committee and laid out the parking lot in an unofficial capacity.

Express Regret

Company officials said they regretted the misunderstanding. They recalled the firm in recent weeks obtained permits for paving 10 parking lots in Appleton, and had they known the church did not have one, would have gotten it themselves.

The council: —Called for a joint meeting of the board of public works and plan commission for Oct. 20 to discuss extension of Forest Street.

Dropped condemnation proceedings on the property at 425 W. Seymour St. when informed the building will be razed by the owner within 60 days.

—Okayed the moving of the city finance director's office from the basement to the main floor of the city hall.

—Authorized the mayor to appoint a committee to study the advisability of establishing a central machine and equipment room at city hall for use by all departments.

—Directed the mayor and public works director to negotiate for the purchase of additional land for the proposed new senior high school on the south side.

—Gave the recreation department permission to establish temporary baseball diamonds in a section of the city's industrial park.

Groundwork Begins on Food Code for World

U.N. Food and Agriculture Group And Health Organization Study Plan

BY OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The by food canners and other pro-groundwork is being laid for an international code designed to ban impure foods, questionable additives and possibly harmful residues of pesticides from grocery stores and markets around the world.

The establishment of such standards is a major project of the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization and the U.N. World Health Organization with the United States playing an active role in the movement.

The food standards, when developed, would be voluntary in nature — that is there would be no supplementary laws in the United States or other countries

1861 Stamp Sells For Record Price

NEW YORK (AP) — A 12-cent black George Washington stamp issued in 1861 has brought $15,500 and a 1918 inverted air mail stamp $10,500 at an auction.

The $15,500 purchase Tuesday was said to be a record high for an American stamp. The successful bidder was not identified.

Ezra Cole of Natick, N.Y., bought the inverted air mail for Herbert Klee, a stamp dealer of Highland Park, Ill. The stamp was one of 100 that has the airplane printed upside down through a printing error.

Fisherman Catches Sub in His Nets

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A lobster boat captain came back to port Tuesday and told how he caught a submarine.

Or was it the other way around?

Capt. Andrew Tobiasen of Margate, skipper of the 80-foot Serina II said that on Sept. 23 a submarine became caught in his boat's gear and dragged the boat a quarter of a mile stern-first.

The submarine, which he said was American, then surfaced, disengaged itself and went on its way.

Tobiasen said he lost several hundred pounds of lobster moving abroad in increased when his drag net was destroyed.

Outline Plan for State Air Search

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Wisconsin Civil Air Patrol and the Wisconsin Sheriffs Association have outlined a plan for a coordinated ground and water search that could cover the entire state in two days.

The plan, still in the blueprint stage, was disclosed Sunday by Capt. William Watson, CAP information officer.

He said the need for a coordinated ground and water search was pointed up by the widespread, exhaustive search that resulted finally in the discovery of the wreckage of a C-47 on the light plane missing since Sept. 7 on a flight from Wisconsin Point of safety to observe to Timmerman Field in Milwaukee when in the kitchen also were pointed out.

Anti-Coronary Club Tells Results of Diet

BY ALTON BLAKESLEE
NEW YORK (AP) — Seven years ago, more than 800 middle-aged men began following a "prudent diet" aimed at preventing heart attacks.

They became volunteer members of New York City's "Anti-Coronary Club." Their diet changes were designed to reduce the amount of cholesterol — a fatty material blamed for clogging up heart arteries — in their bloodstreams.

Today, Medical directors of the American Public Health Association of the results to date.

Eight Dead

Eight of the club members have died of heart attacks.

This is a rate about one-third that of other middle-aged men also checked who did not change their eating habits.

Seven of the eight died within two years after joining the club. Only one died since then, during years when presumably the diet had a fuller opportunity to exert its physiological effect.

It seems reasonable to attribute the significantly lower rate of heart attacks among club members to the diet, said Dr. Seymour H. Rinzler, a heart specialist.

Men following the food advice had within a year significantly lower levels of cholesterol in their blood than the men not making the change, the report adds.

Among the men following the diet and aged 40 to 49, there was one heart attack for an annual rate of 196 per 100,000 men. Among another group of similar age not changing their eating habits there were four attacks for a rate of 642 per 100,000.

Among club men aged 50 to 59 there were seven heart attacks for an annual rate of 379 per 100,000, compared with eight attacks among a smaller, non-dieting group for an annual rate of 1,331 per 100,000.

The club members reduced the total amount of fats that Americans ordinarily eat. They were told to eat about equal amounts of the three types of fats found in ordinary foods.

Prudent Diet

The prudent diet was defined as consisting of "equal amounts of meat, poultry and fish, the usually recommended amounts and types of vegetables and cereals and fruits, and the substitution of low fat dairy products for those high in fats."

There is no single cause of heart attacks, the report cautions. Diet and cholesterol are implicated but so are such influences as obesity and high blood pressure.

Yet it says the study appears to have established a

President Tells Crowds He Expects Election Landslide

IN THE MIDWEST WITH ed the President in East Chicago, Johnson, who is telling Midwest audiences he expects the biggest election landslide in history, said today one campaign issue is whether to chop up the American economic system for fire wood.

Swinging into the second day of an 11-state tour, Johnson stopped first at the racially mixed industrial city of East Chicago, Ind., where he appeared for liberalization of the immigration laws — something opposed by William E. Miller, the Republican vice-presidential nominee.

U. S. Recovers Bodies of Five Viet Nam Dead

Government Forces Lose Men, Materiel In Latest Battles

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The bodies of all five Americans whose helicopter was shot down in flames near Saigon Wednesday have been recovered, raising the official American battle death toll in the Viet Nam war to 200.

U. S. military headquarters said the last of the bodies was accounted for early today.

During the battle near Duc Hoa, 12 miles west of Saigon, government forces lost 33 dead, 43 wounded and 20 missing.

Weapons Lost

The government forces also lost eight heavy weapons, 58 rifles, and six radios — a rich haul for the Viet Cong.

The Vietnamese government reported 16 Viet Cong bodies were left on the battlefield and claimed that 70 dead and wounded were seen being carried off by the Communist force, which was estimated to be of battalion size.

In another action, the Viet Cong killed 11 militiamen and captured 17 rifles in Bien Hoa Province, 20 miles northeast of Saigon. Viet Cong losses, if any, were unknown.

May Gen. Tran Van Minh was named chief of staff of the Vietnamese armed forces. A series of officers have held the post as

Assistant to Goldwater Resigns Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's legislative assistant has quit his job, and was quoted today as charging the Republican presidential nominee is being pushed "farther to the right" by a group of new advisors.

The Arizona senator was silent on the resignation of William R. Seward, his legislative assistant for six years.

Tex. Kazy, administrative assistant to Goldwater, said Seward quit Sept. 30, and Goldwater accepted the resignation in a letter dated Oct. 5.

Kazy said Goldwater had no comment on the matter.

The Washington Post quoted Seward as saying Goldwater is being pushed to the right by "a small well-knit group of new advisors."

Not Available

Seward, whose telephone number is unlisted, was not at his Washington apartment and could not be reached today.

Kazy said Seward had been handling local bills and general legislation, and replying to inquiries about legislation, at a salary of about $13,000.

At Republican national headquarters, a spokesman said Seward "held a very minor functional position in the senator's office."

New Strike Threat Looms Above U.S. Auto Industry

Efforts for Mediation Continue

DETROIT (AP) — The threat of a new strike loomed over the nation's auto industry today as negotiators continued efforts to settle local plant demands and end a nationwide walkout against General Motors.

Fewer than 20 settlements were reported at some 130 bargaining units around the country.

National contract bargaining was broken off Wednesday between the United Auto Workers and American Motors Corp., when the talks bogged down in disagreement over retaining a unique profit sharing provision.

Settlement Possible

Douglas Fraser, who heads the UAW negotiation team, said that there is still time to reach a settlement before the AMC contract expires at midnight Oct. 15, but if no agreement is reached by that time "there will be a strike."

"I hope the company is not playing a game of brinkmanship," Fraser told newsmen.

Edward L. Cushman, AMC vice president leading the company negotiators, said the union had rejected a proposed to finance increased pension and insurance benefits through the profit sharing program.

Profit Sharing

Cushman was asked if he felt the UAW's turnaround meant that profit sharing was dead for the next three-year labor contract.

"I would say so," he replied.

But Fraser disagreed, contending the profit sharing provision was still on the bargaining table and any decision to discard it would not be made unilaterally by one side or the other.

The profit sharing plan — termed "progress sharing" by the negotiators — was adopted for the first time in 1961 and is the only such program in the auto industry.

It sets up a special fund tied to the company's profits and used to finance some fringe

Rusk Denies Johnson Slows Viet Nam War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sec-

Then Rusk gave what appeared to be a new warning to the Cuban government that a serious situation will arise if Castro continues with any program of interference with other governments in the Western Hemisphere.

Rusk added that President Johnson has made it clear to his advisers that decisions with respect to South Viet Nam have nothing to do with the election and should be made without regard to the political campaign.

NATO Experts Endorse Proposed Fleet Of Polaris Missile-Firing Submarines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Military experts of eight NATO nations have concluded that the launch of its 2,875-mile range Polaris missiles at Communist Soviet Union lacks enough long-range bombers, nuclear submarines and fast ships to knock out U.S. officials said the NATO military experts, in effect, endorsed its "survivability" after a 31-2-month study.

Government sources told The Associated Press today North Atlantic Treaty Organization experts had reached unanimous agreement that the Soviet Union proposed NATO force's military would not be able to keep track of the 20 alliance owned and operated missile ships cruising at random in almost 4 million square miles of the Atlantic and Mediterranean.

Critics of the proposed NATO nuclear force have questioned the military study were the States probably would push ahead with the plan even if the Laborites win Britain's election next Thursday and refuse to participate.

The NATO fleet concept calls for constructing 25 merchant-type ships, each mounting eight of the longest-range Polaris missiles.

Twenty of these vessels, powered by high-speed engines, would be at sea at a given time, with the five others in port at special bases in the Mediterranean and the Atlantic.

The military study found that nature provides a built-in defense for the force. In addition

Elden Broehm Censure Made Part of Record

Appleton Council Clears Up Error In Official Minutes

The Appleton City Council set the official record straight Wednesday night on its handling of the Elden Broehm incident last month.

In September the council held an executive session in which it censured Broehm and asked him to take a leave of absence after the city clerk had been arrested in Milwaukee.

However, the council's formal action was not included in the official proceedings or published minutes of the following council meeting.

When the minutes came up for approval Wednesday night, the council adopted an amendment which included the censure resolution. It ordered the resolution be published.

Part of Official Record
The council's action in admonishing Broehm is now a part of the city's official record.

There was no discussion on the resolution introduced by Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Stuhls. The council acted on other matters, including:

—Payment of a $257 bill from the Northwestern Court Reporting Co. for services rendered in taking the transcript at the recent Wisconsin Employment Relations Board, according to hearing.

The union paid a comparable amount as its share of the expense.

—Amending the city's vacation policy to give municipal employees three weeks' vacation after 12 years' service.

—Authorization for the department of public works to create the position of administrative assistant in the street division, and two new positions in the maintenance division.

—Allocation of $13,076 as the city's share of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission budget for 1965.

Chilton C of C Buys 2-Acre Site for Royal Farm Museum

Land Is on Tourist Route Created In City by Hiawatha Pioneer Trail

CHILTON — The Chamber of Commerce here has purchased two acres of land near the western limits of the city, it was reported at the monthly board of directors meeting Tuesday night.

C. J. Weber, chairman of a committee to purchase land for locating the Royal Farm Museum along the Hiawatha Pioneer Trail which winds through the city, told the directors the land was purchased from Clarence Mueller, group 3, Chilton.

The civic group had recently voted to purchase land to assist the Calumet County Historical Society in moving its museum, containing more than 1,500 pieces of antique farm items, to the tourist route.

Present Location
At present the museum is located at 216 Reed St. in a building owned by Dr. Royal Kiofanda who also collected many of the items in the display.

Weber reported money for paying for the land is being collected, but more is needed. About half of the businesses in town have been contacted, he said.

The chamber, one of the leaders in organizing the United Fund Drive in Chilton for the first time this year, voted to give to the fund all money which remained from the community fund drive of past years.

The money was being held in a contingency fund.

Rejuvenating Signs
F. J. Flanagan, secretary, was instructed to contact the Chilton City Council in respect to rejuvenating the welcome signs on the north and south entrances to the city. Flanagan also was instructed to investigate the possibility of putting up such a sign on U.S. 151 entering the city from the west.

The chamber, in connection with dial conversion, is planning an award for a long time employee of the General Telephone Co. here.

Arrangements were turned over to the public relations committee for planning.

Also brought up at the meeting was the hazard of farmers selling produce along the streets of the city. The complaint was that the farmers were selling but that the spots at which they were selling were creating a traffic hazard. The retail committee was instructed to contact the city council to designate a specific area for such selling.

4 School Districts Consider Possible Central High Plan

Facility Would Serve Hilbert, Brillion, Reedsville, Stockbridge

BRILLION — The possibility of constructing a centrally located high school to serve the four school districts of Brillion, Reedsville, Hilbert and Stockbridge was considered early this week during a joint meeting of school board members and school superintendents.

Discussion was related to a Kettle Moraine Conference, a meeting to further discuss the elementary level when this matter will be held at 8 p.m. Nov. 2 at Brillion High School. Board members and superintendents from a number of area schools will attend.

A desire to offer a wider variety of subjects and an obligation to wisely spend district members' money could make a long range plan for a central school feasible, members of the group explained.

Also considered was vocational education needs, realignment of high school 234, elementary 112, school supplies, teachers 17, at Reedsville, high school 363, elementary 177, and Brillion, long overdue. Hilbert and high school 294, elementary 347 Reedsville are members of the and teachers 32.

The Wall Is to Tunnel Under

Last Monday was the fifteenth anniversary of the formation of the East German state known to Communists as the German Democratic Republic. And 57 East Germans celebrated the occasion by crawling through a 146-yard tunnel to freedom in the West.

Once more man's determination to escape the tyranny and stifling of the spirit which occurs under Communist rule has been emphasized. The escapees took tremendous chances. The tunnel was begun almost six months ago and had to be 35 to 90 feet deep to avoid detection devices. There has been no news about other East Germans who may have wanted to use the tunnel before it was discovered. It took the 57 a total of eight hours to crawl through and be hauled to safety by block and tackle in West Berlin.

The East Germans as usual looked impotent and foolish. They discovered the east end of the tunnel shortly after midnight on Monday and guards immediately fired round after round of bullets into the entrance. The escapees were out of range but the hysterical shooting apparently did kill one of the hapless guards. The East German government announced that he had been brutally murdered by "armed bandits" but the announcement is not likely to fool anyone who doesn't want to be fooled.

Some day the Russians may realize that the continued existence of the Berlin Wall and the tight restrictions on getting through it do the Communist cause more harm than good. It is apparent to all those in the free nations and those behind the Wall, that the satellite nations have only become a giant prison from which men, women and children of courage and spirit must tunnel to freedom.

Teen-Age Drinking

A judge in Danbury, Connecticut, recently ordered the arrest of 14 adults on charges of violating a state law against the serving of alcoholic beverages to minors unless the minor happens to be one's own child or ward. The case has caused a stir because the adults involved are not tavern operators or bartenders. The alleged violations occurred at a private party for teenagers at which the adults were chaperones.

Laws in the states differ considerably about serving liquor to minors. New York, next door to Connecticut, has an eighteen year age limit which means that teen-agers from neighboring, more restrictive states, drive over the border and then, of course, must drive home again after having been drinking. This is similar to the problem in Wisconsin with the different local options governing the age limit for beer. But Wisconsin has other provisions. Theoretically a babe in arms may be served a glass of beer at a Wisconsin tavern if he is being held by his parent or guardian. But the law prohibits the serving of alcoholic beverages other than beer to anyone under 21 regardless of parental permission. The blame, however, falls both upon the minor seeking the drink and upon the operator of the establishment. It is not clear whether a parent may serve his own sixteen-year-old daughter a shot of bourbon although recent changes in Wisconsin laws indicate that the same parent at least cannot serve his daughter's minor friend an alcoholic drink.

The matter here is both legal and moral. Whatever the law, an adult who furnishes liquor to minors from other families without the consent of the minor's parents is on shaky ethical grounds. The episode which brought the Connecticut case to court was an automobile accident following the party in which a girl passenger was killed. The driver of the car, seventeen years ago reportedly had had 12 scotches and water during the evening, an amount of intoxicant which should preclude driving for anyone of any age.

We have sometimes suggested that our laws establishing strict age requirements for drinking tend to lead to more of it. If a glass of beer or a highball comes to be regarded as either a status symbol or a sign of maturity, teen-agers, in particular those who are most insecure and lack confidence, are more likely to imbibe. In some European countries, light wines are accepted as permissible at the table for almost any age but drunkenness is frowned upon. Basically it may be the attitudes in our homes toward drinking and its abuse which contribute most toward teen-age drinking. We are inclined to believe that the home in which liquor is accepted but where drunkenness is not may be the healthiest atmosphere for a sound approach.

Statistics indicate that, on a percentage basis, the number of alcoholics in the nation is less than it was fifty years ago. But the incidence of social drinking has definitely risen. Adolescents do not live in glass cages. They are going to be faced with the temptations of alcohol but this does not mean that they should be plied with highballs at suburban parties.

Newsmen to China

Senator Pierre Salinger has suggested once again that the United States try to make arrangements similar to those of some other free nations for an exchange of journalists with Red China. The proposal is a good one but unfortunately it is blocked by the Red Chinese — and our continued refusal to recognize the Peking regime.

Japan has recently completed such an agreement whereby nine Japanese newsmen will be assigned to China for a year while more are currently covering the fifteenth anniversary of the Chinese Communist revolution. Great Britain, France and Canada have worked out similar agreements in the last few months.

Newsmen visiting China will not have free access to everything. China is a police state and the newsmen are likely to get a series of guided tours of the more palatable aspects of Chinese Communism. In exchange, Red Chinese journalists will spend an equal amount of time in the other nations. They will have more freedom although naturally anything they write if it is to be printed in China will be considerably slanted.

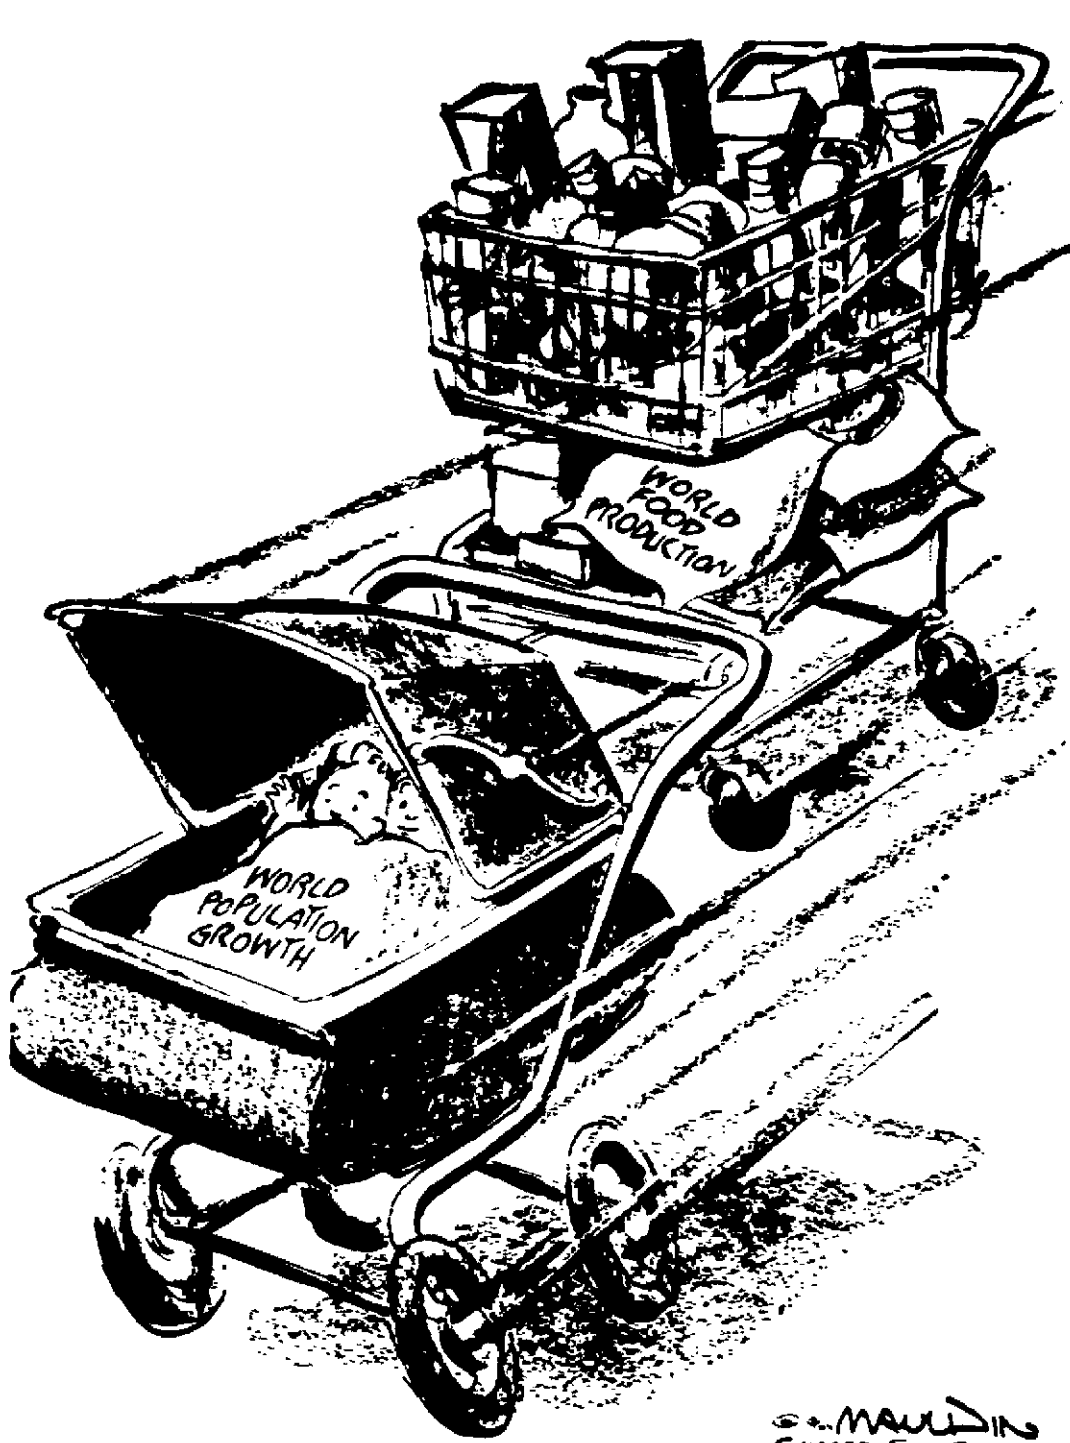

It can be argued that such slanted writing will only serve the purpose of the Red Chinese masters in convincing their subjects of the sad state of affairs in the non-Communist countries of the world. If the United States had such an exchange we could expect Chinese reports about the plight of Negroes in Mississippi or Puerto Ricans in New York slums and a general avoidance of the high standard of living and liberty over-all in the United States.

But this is a risk that doesn't amount to much. Chinese authorities already say such things and dateline articles are hardly likely to change many Chinese minds or prevent any rebellion which certainly does not seem to be brewing in any case.

Now that Japanese, English, French and Canadian correspondents will be sending out stories from Red China, we will be more apt to find out whether the various rumors of famine, militarism, industrial might and apathy have much basis in fact. But it would still be better if American newsmen were there trying to dig out the facts.

Salinger has pointed out that the proposal has been "repeatedly rejected" by the Red Chinese Ambassador to Poland in conversations with our Ambassador to Poland one of the means for getting around the supposed lack of communications between the two nations. Undoubtedly an exchange of journalists would have to depend upon our government's willingness to change its policy of nonrecognition of the Peking regime. And this, too, is something which ought to be reconsidered once the political campaign is over. Whether or not we are losing more than we are gaining by such a policy, when the hard reality seems to indicate that the Communists are going to stay in control for some time, should be reassessed.

Goldwater's Fears of Proposed Nuclear Treaty Groundless

BY MAX FREEDMAN

Senator Goldwater professes to see a plot on disarmament between the British and American governments. He accuses the Johnson administration of deceit and double-dealing in refusing to tell the American people of a new draft treaty to control the spread of nuclear weapons. He declares that President Johnson after the election would use this treaty as an excuse to enter into negotiations with China, leading to the eventual recognition of the Peking government. He finds it a special cause of offense that the existence of this treaty was first disclosed last week by Sir Alec's meeting in Manchester. Before me, as I write, is the full text of his speech, with all the changes and additions made during its delivery. There is not a single word or single passage which gives the slightest justification to Senator Goldwater's accusations.

Freedman

It is best to remove all doubt, at the very start, about a secret negotiation with China. Sir Alec neither said nor implied anything of the sort. The new treaty would be open to the signature of France and China, just as the test ban treaty was similarly open. It would surely be excusable irresponsibility for Britain and America to treat China, an emergent nuclear power, as an outlaw state totally without commitments to the world community. But if China refuses to sign the new treaty, that ends the matter. She cannot be coerced to do so just as she could not be forced to sign the test ban treaty. Sir Alec has no secret plan for overturning the Chinese policy long followed by the American government.

In his speech Sir Alec was not trying to lay down a new policy for the United States. He was trying to answer the Labor Party's case on the nuclear deterrent.

BRITISH TOOK LEAD

He claimed that Britain took the decisive lead in the negotiations that led to the test ban treaty. Former Prime Minister Macmillan had urged Russia to consider such a treaty long before this policy had become popular in Washington. He referred to a generous letter by President Kennedy to Mr. Macmillan thanking him for the British initiative.

Sir Alec said the choice before the British people was very plain. They could leave the nuclear club altogether, as the Labor Party proposed, or they could use their nuclear power and influence to bring the world closer to a system of regulated and responsible disarmament.

He pointed out that it is impossible to believe that France and China would give up their nuclear power if Britain threw away her nuclear strength. "The real world does not work that way," said Sir Alec.

Then came the passages on the draft treaty.

Sir Alec laid it down as his first principle that the way to protect mankind from nuclear war was by an agreement between nations to stop the spread of nuclear weapons and military nuclear knowledge.

His plan fell into three parts. In the first place, all existing nuclear powers pledged themselves to give neither nuclear weapons nor nuclear information to any other country.

Then all non-nuclear countries bound themselves to refuse all such weapons and information.

On this basis it should then be possible to proceed gradually to establish a system of balanced and comprehensive disarmament.

GAVE NO DETAILS

This proposal was sketched by Sir Alec only in the broadest terms. He gave no details, for example, of the provisions for inspection which alone could make such a treaty effective. But again and again he made it very clear that Russia and China would be the stumbling blocks in the treaty. It never occurred to him that Senator Goldwater would range himself with the communist powers in opposing this initiative for peace. In fact, the situation is much worse. We do not know as yet what Russia will say about the draft treaty. But we already know that Senator Goldwater is against it.

Despite Senator Goldwater's opposition, the Johnson administration has no need to apologize for the draft treaty. It will probably take several years of hard and intricate negotiation before that treaty is approved and ratified. The test ban treaty, in President Kennedy's words, was no more than a first step on the road to peace. President Johnson will deserve, and will receive, the support of most Americans as he takes the second and longer step to peace.

Form of Coordinating Committee May Be In For Some Modification

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The Coordinating Committee for Higher Education has been the subject of so much doctri-

Wyngaard

nary lately that it is a fair presumption that the next legislative session will produce changes in the method of supervising the hugely expanding state-supported institutions of higher education.

Although the members of the committee may be excused for some skepticism, proud and devoted men and women as they are for the most part, the criticism that has increased lately is constructive.

When it comes from such widely divergent sources as Gov. Reynolds, leader of a political party and executive head of the state government, and a non-partisan committee studying state expenditure problems and trends which is the so-called "Committee of 25," the chances are that there is change in the offing.

THE PROBLEM

The problem, in brief, is an increasing doubt that the Coordinating Committee is actually achieving its purposes, or more precisely, the fear that it is merely a kind of rallying agency for the funneling of the program and budget requests of the institutions and services under its control.

Specifically, can the University of Wisconsin members of the committee, who regard themselves as regents of the university first, and as Coordinating Committee members incidentally, judge critically their own work? Can the members of the state college regents do so? Since together they compose a numerical majority of the board, is there not a human inclination to negotiate agreements for the convenience of the separate systems, under the guise of objective control and coordination?

Or again, can a majority of the board which is sentiment-tally and otherwise devoted to the state universities — at Madison and in the newly labelled state university system — be expected to pay much heed to the schools of vocational and adult education on the one hand, or the county colleges, on the other, which are now technically under their jurisdictional wings?

The Committee of 25 has proposed that the board be reconstituted to give public members a majority vote, as a means of assuring truly objective budget and program and policy control of the schools which will soon become the most voracious within the complex of eager services competing for the state budget dollar.

NOMENCLATURE

Perhaps the first reform that is needed is one that has been mentioned incidentally, if at all. It is a change in the forbidding and popularly incomprehensible name of the board. This clumsy nomenclature was one of the fruits of the uneasy and ungraceful compromise achieved nearly 10 years ago when the Kohler administration fought hard to achieve a single management system for higher education.

Like all compromises, it satisfied nobody. The university interest, which can be a powerful thing when fully mobilized regarded the idea of a single board of higher education as hostile to its own cause. That fear was fortified by the eager espousal of the idea by the state colleges. The sponsors of the integration plan, and notably former Gov. Kohler, never regarded the Coordinating Committee as anything more than a kind of a truce agreement. The ultimate objective, they thought, was a single higher education administration for the best service of the student, parent, and supporting citizen.

For the observer who stands a pace or two removed from the necessarily introspective bureaucrats involved in the situation, that goal remains the most constructive and progressive solution. There is something repelling about the quarrel about jurisdiction over new branch institutions, for example.

Discretion Is Virtue But Tact Is an Art

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices. On the wild semantic merry-go-round of politics, "loyalty" is doing what your party expects of you, while "a citizen-ship" is the other fellow doing what his party expects of him.

Harris

To dismiss someone else's pain by saying, "It's only in the mind" is false even when true — for where is pain more real than in the mind?

One reason the world moves ahead so slowly, if at all, is that the people who are brimming with confidence are generally confident about the wrong things.

Men are much less realistic about women than women are about themselves — as evidenced by the fact that many men envy other men's wives, but most women pity other women's husbands.

The only valid purpose of economy is for the sake of a wild extravagance at the right moment; economy for its own sake is debilitating to the spirit.

Petty politicians in high offices ought to ponder Napoleon's astute remark: "There is no greater immorality than to occupy a place you cannot fill."

Nobody else can combine that delicate blend of homage and malice as one noted musician talking about another noted musician to strangers.

Since many readers have asked, my feeling about Goldwater's bid for the Presidency was expressed by the old lady who told McKinley he was her "second choice" for President. When he pressed her to name her first choice, she replied, "Anybody else."

The most graceful rebuke to lack of hospitality is related by Athenaeus, who tells of a Greek host pouring very little wine into a guest's glass, with the prideful remark that the wine was 20 years old. "It's very small for its age," observed the guest.

"Discretion" and "tact" are not the same thing; discretion is a virtue, while tact is an art; the discreet man knows how far to go, but the tactful man knows how far to go too far — and this is why he is more successful than the merely discreet man.

The only maxim of freedom that makes good psychological sense is Ibsen's statement that "Everyone has an inalienable right to some one place on this earth where he may be wholly himself." In an increasingly mechanized and conformist society, how many "free" men have this right?

The County Democratic Convention held on Saturday last was the most fully attended of any held for years. Notwithstanding the contest for some of the offices was close and animated, there was a greater degree of harmony, good feeling and unanimity than usual.

Many must be disappointed where so many are candidates, and yet it augurs well for the success of the ticket and the wisdom of the selections made to witness so cordial and generous an acquiescence in the will of the majority.

The nomination for Member of the Assembly of Sam Ryan

Youngchild Gift Result Of Desire to Assist Youth

Lawrence Science Hall Result Of Philanthropist's Ambitions

By MARGUERITE SCHUMANN per E. Youngchild at Lawrence University. "You worry a large part of your life how to accumulate resources and get ahead financial-ly. Then you start worrying how to give it away intelligently—how to do the right thing."
That is how, in 1962, Casper E. Youngchild described his decision to give $1 million to Lawrence University for a science hall to bear his name, the largest individual gift in the institution's history. The building was dedicated today.

Created Fund
Later he made further contributions to education through the creation of a special scholarship fund at The Institute of Paper Chemistry and the gift of $100,000 to Beloit College.

Sixty-seven of Youngchild's 81 years were spent in the paper industry, and all during his mature years he held a deep respect for science and its contribution to world progress. He also held particular warmth for young people beginning their careers. He often remembered the encouragement of an older colleague on his first job who said: "Young fellow, I think that if you stick at this business, you will learn it." "I've never forgotten that," Youngchild recalled. "I often think how important it is to encourage young people. It only takes a word."

As it turned out, Youngchild gave much more than a word. Just a month away from his 80th birthday, he decided that the most intelligent gift he could make with the work of his days was to encourage young people through a gift to the basic sciences at Lawrence.

Happy Superintendent
As work began on Youngchild Hall, he was the happiest side-walk superintendent in town. He toured the excavation several times a week, watched the structure grow, sat for his official portrait by Lawrence artist Tom Dietrich, and made plans for attending the dedication. He was enormously delighted and amused to become Dr. Cas-per Youngchild. It did not arrive until after his death on March 9, 1964. The editors of "Who's Who in America" prepared two citations to celebrate exceptional educational philanthropy. One of them was awarded to Casper Youngchild. He did not arrive until after his death on March 9, 1964. Youngchild was born in Merrill and spent his childhood in Greenleaf. At 14, he saw his first paper machine and thought, as he stood before it, "That is what I'd like to do." That is what he did for more than six decades.

Long Career
He started in the mills at 16, cutting paper for the Marinette-Menominee Paper Company. In 1902, he went to Nekeosa for a vacation and stayed 29 years, ultimately as mill superintendent for Nekeosa-Mill. From 1931 to 1945 he was with the International Paper Company in Mobile, Ala., and Gies Falls, N. Y., most of the time as general manager for manufacturing. At International he was technical boss of an empire more than 50 per cent larger than the rest of the paper companies in the United States put together.

At each step of the way, Casper Youngchild went at his job with an energy that approached fury. He took correspondence courses from the University of Wisconsin, he read voluminously in technical publications, but most of all he learned by doing. "I made all the mistakes that it's possible for anyone to make, but I learned a lot by making them," he observed.

New Career
When "Cap" reached 62, he decided to retire early and create still another career as an engineering consultant to paper mills all over the world, work of deafness; he was a philosopher, a philanthropist and a seeker after beauty.

Citation
His Who's Who citation noted: "One of the strongest testimonies to private education in America is the phenomenon of mind that gives you a vigor and hope which children seldom possess. For generations Youngchild did not nearly as youthful as you are; but developed during his may catch your energy and fire. His absence was considered nent consulting engineer in the own stubborn independence."

Knight cited him for his honorary degree: "Whatever out skill, we must learn to use it, and then we must use it for the good of others. You have done both these things with rare distinction; we honor you, not only for your generosity to Lawrence but for the lively, creative, inquiring mind that gives you a vigor and hope which children seldom possess. Since the room is shared by all departments, there is an adjacent preparation room where experiments are set up on carts for wheeling into the hall. Western Voters Singing Odd Song AP Survey Shows

Associated Press Reporters Hear Sounds of Political Cacophony

EDITOR'S NOTE — A others appearing to favor him, strange medley — a political! In California, with its weighty cacophony — is rising in the total of 40 electoral votes. Goldwater as the nation sweeps into water is considered "dead," the final weeks of the presidential election campaign. Here is what Associated Press reporters find is being said.

BY ROB WOOD
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — From the sparse settlements of the badlands, from the valley towns of the Rockies, from the teeming cities of the Pacific slope, a strange medley is rising in the West.

It is a political cacophony made up of three themes: 1. Earnest support of Lyndon B. Johnson. The comment of Mrs. Albert Becco, part-time hospital employee at Pueblo, Colo., is typical: "I like Johnson because he says he loves every one. I mean I think he's interested in all the people."

2. Dedicated backing for Barry Goldwater. Example: Mrs. Gene A. Williams, housewife, of Olympia, Wash., who said she was a Democrat for some years: "I'm going to vote for Goldwater because I think he would be more responsible with my money."

3. The plague-on-both-houses theme. E. D. Hovde, a state highway engineer from San Francisco, said: "We've got two lousy candidates."

An unusual aspect of this presidential contest is the apparent strength of this third school of thought, composed of people who either won't vote or, if they do, will vote against somebody rather than for somebody.

There seems to be considerable yearning for another choice — for some unidentified man who isn't there. This yearning was put into words by Sharon Atzeni, a parking lot attendant in Tucson, Ariz.: "I don't think Johnson is a very good President. I think Goldwater would be worse. I'd sure like to have more of a choice."

These quotes, and many others, were gathered by Associated Press reporters as they interviewed people at random in 13 states — New Mexico, Arizona, California, Washington, Oregon, Nevada, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, Idaho, Alaska, Hawaii.

These states represent 95 electoral votes out of a total of 538. It is largely from the West, plus the Midwest and South that Goldwater has been hoping to put together the required victory total of 270.

The New York Times, after a nationwide survey, says that as of now Goldwater is generally considered certain to carry only two states, Mississippi and Alabama, with eight

A Yakima, Wash., housewife,

Mrs. May Meyer: "The Republican National Convention and Goldwater's published statements have made a Democrat out of this Republican."

In Utah, a poll conducted for the Salt Lake City Tribune showed Johnson favored by 61 per cent of the voters, Goldwater by 33 per cent and 6 per cent undecided.

Miller Critical Of Democrats' 'Big Spending'

Sen. Barry Goldwater were elected.

The New York congressman then moved on to Sarasota, continuing his forage for votes in the Deep South.

After addressing airport rallies at Sarasota and Leesburg today, he planned to go into Tennessee and Missouri.

Emotional Issue

Miller hit hard at the Cuban situation — an emotional issue to many in the exile haven of Miami — in an address delivered from a speaker's stand erected behind the pitcher's mound at Miami Stadium.

He accepted a bare flag staff from an honor guard of 24 veterans of the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion. A spokesman for the group said they look to Miller and Goldwater to restore the flag of the ill-fated Cuban brigade.

The brigade had given its flag to the late President John F. Kennedy, who told them he hoped he would be able to return it in a free Cuba.

Earlier Wednesday, Miller promised that if an administration were elected, it would recognize a Cuban exile government, supply arms to Cuban "freedom fighters," and "let them fight to take back their own homeland."

Provide Armament

He told reporters that a Goldwater administration would provide armament and other supplies but said he was making no commitments to employ any U.S. military forces to help oust the regime of Fidel Castro.

Miller also argued that, while the U.S. government urgently needed information about Cuban internal affairs, President Johnson's administration was restricting access to Cuba by exiles seeking such intelligence. "We have little doubt," he said, "that there is far more Soviet activity in Cuba today than we are aware of."

He quoted the Senate Preparedness Committee as having expressed "grave apprehension" last year about reports that strategic missiles and bombers had not been removed from Cuba but had been concealed in caves and other places.

At the same time, Miller pursued his attack on Johnson in the area of domestic politics.

He said in Jacksonville Wednesday that he was concerned about Johnson running in New York state on the ticket of the Liberal party whose platform Miller described as "a blueprint for socialism."

If Johnson should carry New York with Liberal party help, Miller said, the President would have to pay off "IO.U.s" with jobs and legislation sought by Liberal party members.

return here Friday after stopping in Tokyo, Hong Kong and New Delhi. The Soviets may expel them from the country.

Actions Protested

The United States and Britain protested to Moscow last week that Soviet agents broke into the attaches' hotel rooms in Khabarovsk, searched them and seized their property.

The Soviet Union replied Tuesday by accusing the attaches of spying.

The United States and Britain rejected the charge.

The attaches are Col. J. A. Aubrey, Lt. Col. Carl Liewer, and Maj. James F. Smith of the U.S. Embassy and Lt. Cmdr. Nizel N. Laville of the British Embassy.

The four attaches left Hong Kong today for New Delhi. They were booked to leave New Delhi for Moscow Friday.

Tentative Agreement

Despite a tentative agreement on national economic and non-economic issues, local plant strike fund which will finance demands have kept more than a quarter million workers off the week for a single worker to $25 assembly lines and shut off for one who is married and $30 production of GM's new 1965 for workers with families.

to the vast oceans it would be the military group noted. There are some 12,000 miles of NATO coastline along which the ships could be dispersed. Also, shallow waters and inland water systems provide an element of natural defense against submarine.

The military experts held that the long endurance and speed of the proposed vessels, their design permitting them to look at sea like many cargo ships, and freedom of movement provided by their long-range missiles all contributed to the safety of the force from searching Communist planes and craft.

No Threat

It was decided that under normal cold war conditions "surprise is not a serious threat because the high Soviet force level required for fast search of a large area is readily detectable."

The experts calculated it would take 230 to 260 long-range, four-motored Soviet "Bear" bombers to maintain a continuous surveillance of 20 NATO missile ships.

This would assume ideal weather for visual identification at close range.

The study group estimated it would take 125 of the Bears to

Indiana Beatle Fans Held in Custody

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Police say they have in custody two girls who left their Indiana homes with plans to sail to England and see the Beatles.

They said the girls were found in a downtown hotel Wednesday after having been reported missing by their parents. The girls were identified as Kathy Ann Kulas, 15, and Janet Catherine Cybovski, 14, both of Hammond, Ind.

They were on their way to New York City where they planned to board a ship for England, said Police Sgt. Norman Bonnevillie.

Bonneville quoted the girls as saying they had hitchhiked as far as Pennsylvania.

a result of the political and military upheavals of the past two months.

Offices Switched

Minh replaces Brig. Gen. Cao Van Vien, one of the best known officers in South Viet Nam who probably will be assigned command of the vital 3rd Corps, in the Saigon area.

While the chief of staff technically outranks that of the 3rd Corps commander, troop commands in the Saigon area are more important than desk jobs since they can be decisive in times of coups.

Vien is trusted by Premier Nguyen Khanh and has an outstanding combat record as commander of the paratroopers. He was involved in a Viet Cong ambush last February and was shot through the shoulder while personally leading a charge into enemy lines.

Touch Is Modern in Pope's Rooms

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Contemporary touches and simplicity have replaced the baroque look in the public rooms of Pope Paul VI's Vatican apartment.

L'Osservatore Romano disclosed that after a 40-day renovation ordered by the Pope, the 16 public rooms of the papal quarters have an air of spaciousness without the clutter of massive furniture, mantel clocks and oversize vases.

Gone is the gold-encrusted papal chair in the throne room with its puffy cherubs and angelic faces peering through carved foliage.

In its place is a simple marble throne atop three steps with no canopy overhead.

Cost of Arms

A recent Scazzelli bronze of Pope John XXIII at prayer is near a sculpture by Mino da Fiesole, a contemporary of Michelangelo. In another room is a Renaissance terra cotta by Luca Della Robbia and a contemporary papal coat of arms by Enrico Manfrini.

Indirect fluorescent lighting has been installed in all the rooms. Rich red figured tapestries have been replaced by solid pastels in light green, gray and soft yellow.

Earlier in his reign Pope Paul appealed to artists to rediscover the Church, a patron of the arts in Renaissance days.

L'Osservatore Romano, commenting on the new look, said: "The rupture between art and the faith, even if it never was total, has been recomposed in a unity of ideals with this act of faith by the Holy See towards contemporary art and artists."

The students will be part of the second experimental program for education in professional financed by the Ford Foundation.

Those named to the 1965 program include:

Calvin B. Andringa of New Berlin; Bradley D. Armstrong of Janesville; Delmar E. DeLang of Clinton; George E. Dix of Neenah and Thomas A. Lockyear of Rockford, Ill.

Goldwater Fund Is Robbed of $17

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's campaign fund is out $17. Two men entered the Evansville headquarters for the Republican presidential nominee Wednesday, asking for bumper stickers.

When Mrs. Vernon Hensley went to look for the stickers, one of the men fished $17 from a bowl containing donations. Another worker moaned, "I hope they need the money as bad as we do."
